O'Neill Hails Safety Angles In Points Law

Repeat Offenders Face Year's Loss Of Driving Rights

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — In the words of Gov. C. William O'Neill, Ohio today has a new law marking "a very significant step forward in highway safety."

It is an emergency law signed Saturday by the governor, creating a penalty point system for traffic violators.

From now on, any motorist getting 12 points within a two-year period under the system faces loss of driving rights for up to a year. Maximum penalty for driving while under suspension is six months in jail and a $500 fine.

The administration - backed law was enacted by the Legislature in an effort to take repeated violators off the highways. One of the things pressing the Legislature for passage was a highway safety department report listing 408 traffic deaths in 37,900 accidents during the first three months of 1957. These accidents also caused 16,683 injuries and property damage of 14½ million dollars.

Commenting on the law after he had signed it, Gov. O'Neill said: "It is the most important piece of highway safety legislation passed in a session that saw the passage of more highway safety bills than in any other session."

The new law will work this way:

Points assessed against violators will be checked by the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles through all the courts in the state. Forms used by courts in reporting traffic cases will be used to start the new system.

Failure to comply with the new law will be grounds for removal of court officers.

In cases involving manslaughter, driving while drunk or drugged, failure to stop after an accident and driving while a license is suspended or revoked, six points will be assessed. Three points will be assessed for reckless driving and two for speeding and other moving traffic violations.

The bureau will send a warning to drivers when they accumulate more than five points.

When a driver amasses 12 points within two years from the time the count started, the registrar will ask common pleas court in the driver's home county to suspend his license for a year as an "habitual" traffic violator. Courts will make the decision whether to suspend the driving rights or place the 12-point driver on probation. Accumulated points will be erased after serving the penalty but a new driving test can be demanded.

Violations no longer will be noted on the back of driving licenses under the new system.

Attorneys said points will not be assessed in cases arising before signing of the new law on convictions after its effective date.

Traffic points will be reported by all courts of record and those of mayors. So will new county courts that go into operation next Jan. 1. But after Jan. 1, 1960, mayors no longer will have jurisdiction in traffic violations occurring on state highways within their will be limited to traffic ordinance violations on other streets and roads in their towns.

Suez Impact On Economy Short-Lived

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United Nations today reported that the economic shock of the Suez crisis on the Middle East was sharp but quickly diffused. By April much of the impact had spent its force, primarily because the demand for oil continued to increase.

Middle East trade with the communist countries, which increased somewhat during 1955-56, expanded further because of the crisis.

The developments were shown in a U. N. survey, "Economic Developments In the Middle East, 1955-1956." A special section was devoted to a preliminary review of the economic effect of the canal crisis on the region.

Peronist Official Dies In Exile

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Juan Isaac Cooks, 63, Peronist former foreign minister of Argentina, died in exile Sunday night of a heart attack. He was stricken while motoring from Punta del Este to Montevideo.

From 1954 until the fall of dictator Juan D. Peron in 1955, Cooke was ambassador to Spain and chief of the Argentine delegation to the U.N.

Tail Assembly Block Blamed In Air Crash

PORT HARDY, B. C. (AP) — The crash of a Pacific Western Airlines plane that killed 14 of the 18 persons aboard Sunday was apparently due to a ground control block left on the tail assembly.

This was indicated in a preliminary report issued by the line's headquarters.

The plane crashed as it was attempting to land a few minutes after taking off on its regularly scheduled flight to Vancouver, 190 air miles southeast.

In a statement released to the press, the airline said the pilot, Capt. Gerald W. Allen, 37, Vancouver, reported by radio immediately after taking off he was not satisfied with the feel of the plane and was returning for a checkup.

The airline statement said: "It appears from early reports that the cause of the accident was failure of some personnel to remove one of the ground control blocks which are always placed on the tail assembly."

Fifth Test Shot Fired

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—The fifth shot of the current nuclear test series went off with a spectacular bang over Frenchman's Flat at 6:30 this morning.

The blast was well above nominal in size and was the largest so far of the current series. Observers watching it through high density goggles from 40 miles away reported it came off like a second sunrise.

The fireball, as seen from the observation point used by newsmen, rose above the horizon and formed what looked like a massive cauliflower head.

The nuclear device was exploded from a balloon about 700 feet above the desert. More than 850 military observers and a number of Civil Defense officials witnessed the explosion. The military men were in trenches about 4,500 yards from Ground Zero.

The exact size of the blast was not disclosed, but the Atomic Energy Commission had said earlier that it would be above 20 kilotons, or more powerful than the bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki during World War II.

Boys Confess Ambush Slaying

Son Relates Story Of Shooting Father

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Three boys Sunday confessed the murder of the father of one of them.

Police identified the son of a man who died in the Pennsylvania electric chair a little over two years ago as the member of the trio who actually pulled the trigger and pumped a slug from a .30-30 rifle into the chest of 35-year-old Martin Daniels Sr. as he sat on the stoop of his south Philadelphia home late Saturday night.

"It was a pretty cold operation just like professional killers," said Homicide Capt. David H. Roberts.

* * *

ROBERTS said the boys signed a statement declaring that the murder was planned for revenge by Daniels' 16-year-old son Martin Jr. after a violent quarrel Friday night.

In the statement, the boys said the Daniels youth turned over the death weapon to 14-year-old Curtis Raymond Edwards as they and Albert Stolis, 15, lay in ambush, in a cemetery across the street from the Daniels' row home. There they waited for the stevedore to come out of the house and sit on the front step, as he invariably did on hot summer nights.

Edwards' father Grover Cleveland Edwards was executed April 25, 1955, for the Aug. 31, 1952, murder of a retired south Philadelphia baker.

Slayer Faces Chair Tonight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Convicted slayer Harold E. Shackelford, 33, faces execution in Ohio Penitentiary's electric chair tonight unless appeal is made to the state Supreme Court.

When asked if he planned an appeal, Shackelford's attorney, Robert B. Weaver of Newark, said he would have a statement this afternoon.

Gov. C. William O'Neill last Friday refused a clemency plea. That left the high court as the only hope of staying the execution scheduled for sometime after 8 p. m.

Hailstones Pelt Farmers, 16 Require Hospital Treatment

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Violent weekend storms inflicted new misery and damage on rain-plagued Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Twenty Mexican farmers were caught in an open field Sunday near Ft. Stockton, Tex., when a vicious storm began showering them with hail stones "bigger than baseballs."

Nineteen were injured, 16 of them requiring hospitalization for cuts and bruises. The injured were described as resembling in appearance victims of "a drunken brawl."

The hail caused considerable damage to cotton crops in the area.

A cloudburst dumped 3 inches of rain at Midland in West Texas. High winds snapped some power lines.

* * *

DOWNPOURS in Oklahoma caused some flash flooding and sent rivers on the rise again.

The rains apparently were the final blow to many wheat farmers in northwestern counties of the state. Farmers in Woodward and southern Ellis counties were reported giving up the harvest. Parts of the state had more than 3 inches of rainfall.

Floodwaters poured into Lakin, Kan., when an irrigation ditch broke after more than 2 inches of rain. The water reached a depth of three to four feet in parts of the community. The main line of the Santa Fe Railroad was washed out, but service later was restored.

Atomic Group Airs 'Clean' Nuclear Weapon

WASHINGTON (AP) Atomic scientists today told President Eisenhower this country now can produce a hydrogen bomb approximately 95 per cent free of radioactive fallout.

Three University of California physicists, visiting the President with Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission reported the progress on producing a "clean" H-bomb.

Strauss told reporters that strides have been made since June 5, when Eisenhower reported that fallout had been reduced by nine-tenths from that of earliest H-bombs.

"By the time he made that statement, we had gone about half the way to ten-tenths," Strauss said.

The scientsts — all obviously pleased — stood with Strauss as he spoke. They were Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence, Dr. Mark M. Mills, and Dr. Edward Teller, all of the University of California radiation laboratory.

* * *

AT ONE point, when asked whether it is possible to make a "clean H-bomb," Lawrence nodded.

But later, when the question was put on the basis of whether this country now is actually making clean fusion weapons, Strauss intervened, saying the question should not be answered for security reasons.

Strauss also cut off a question to Dr. Teller—whether a moratorium on nuclear weapons testing would hamper progress toward producing weapons which would not harm civilian populations through fallout. The question should not be answered, the AEC chairman said, because it might hinder disarmament negotiations now in progress.

Britain fired May 31 an H-bomb which was reported to have produced only a slight direct radioactive fallout. Informants indicated to reporters with the British testing force in the Central Pacific that this bomb would be virtually "clean" as a battle weapon if exploded as much as two miles high.

One of the arguments that has been made for a halt to weapons testing is that accumulated fallout — radioactive dust and particles drifting over the world — might rise to the point where it was causing bone cancer and effecting genetic changes.

Some experts contend there are dangers from the radioactivity already released.

* * *

BUT the three scientists accompanying Strauss to the White House were emphatic in stating that all the H-bomb tests to date have produced harmless and "negligible" quantities of radioactivity. Teller said they informed the President solely about technical developments, without discussing policy questions such as discontinuance of testing or disarmament.

The scientists also, Teller said, told Eisenhower "what we hope and plan to accomplish in the coming year, if we continue to work."

He would not elaborate on the last phrase, even when asked whether the "if" meant if the tests are not discontinued.

When asked if he could state what the future holds with respect to clean nuclear weapons, Teller said: "The future is even more classified than the past."

Networks To Record President's Address

Rocket Expert Who Defied Wilson Order Faces Trial

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—One of the Army's top rocket experts, Col. John C. Nickerson Jr., who deliberately courted a court-martial will get one, beginning Tuesday.

Nickerson, 41-year-old West Point graduate and World War II hero, is scheduled to appear before a 10-man general court-martial board at 9 a. m. Tuesday to answer 18 charges of espionage, perjury and disobedience of orders.

The espionage charge stems from the Army's accusation that he distributed secret information to unauthorized persons which, if it had come into the hands of an enemy, could have damaged the nation's security.

No trial since the court-martial of Brig. Gen. Billy Mitchell in 1925 has involved such outright questioning of the wisdom of his superiors as this one.

* * *

MITCHELL was court-martialed for insisting on the superiority of air power over surface battleships, while Nickerson insists that to abandon the Army's long range missile program would endanger the nation.

If convicted on all 18 specifications charging violations of two sections of the uniform code of military justice, the bespectacled Nickerson could receive a 46-year prison sentence, a dishonorable discharge and a $10,000 fine.

The two-time winner of the Silver Star medal for gallantry in World War II, is primarily involved in a single-handed battle to save the Army's development of a 1,500-mile intermediate range ballistic missile (IRBM).

Last November Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson issued an order limiting the Army to development of a 200-mile missile.

* * *

AT THE TIME the Army had in the works the Jupiter missile, which later flew 1,650 miles in 17½ minutes and which is the only reported successful flight of a ballistic missile beyond 200 miles.

In the aftermath of the Wilson order, Nickerson wrote his now famed "Comments on the Wilson Memoranda," which the Army maintains contained top secret information.

This writing, plus three subsequent documents, were distributed to editors, congressman, a newspaper columnist and industrial men.

Nickerson, supporting his argument with technical data, contended that in the race with Russia to produce an IRBM and an intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM), the Army was far ahead of the other services.

In distributing his arguments Nickerson admittedly sought to focus public attention on the missile program — and the Army's role therein.

* * *

AT A BRIEF news conference yesterday, Nickerson said in commenting on his impending trial, "I am confident of the outcome." He specified that he meant his own personal situation.

The trial, which is to be held in a low, long and hot frame building, just inside the main gate at the Redstone Arsenal is to produce testimony from some of the nation's top missile men, including Dr. Wernher Von Braun, director of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency and one of the developers of the German V2 rocket in World War II.

Soviet Warships In Suez After 30-Year Absence

CAIRO (AP)—Two Soviet destroyers and an auxiliary tanker steamed through the Suez Canal Sunday the first Russian warships to do since World War I.

The Soviets were quoted by canal authorities as saying the ships were headed for Vladivostok in the Far East, but "may spend some time in the Red Sea."

The Red Sea is one of the trouble spots in the Middle East dispute. It is there Egypt and her allies are involved in a dispute with Israel over entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba.

Speculation arose that the voyage of the Soviet vessels was a show of strength.

The passage of the destroyers is part of Soviet navy activity in the Mediterranean area in the past few days. Thursday and Friday a cruiser, two destroyers and three torpedo boats sailed through the Turkish Straits into the Mediterranean.

Lutheran Leader Dies in Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dr. George W. Miley of Columbus, president of the Ohio Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America for 16 years, died today in a Columbus hospital. He was 66.

Dr. Miley would have completed his fourth four-year term July 31. He did not seek re-election at the Synod's convention last month in Springfield and Dr. Frederick C. Wiegman was elected to succeed him.

'Team' Sought In Five Jobs Over Weekend

A team of apparently professional safecrackers made off with $5,850 in cash and checks after they "punched" five safes in Jeffersonville and Greenfield over the weekend.

The breaks were discovered when the business places opened for business Monday. They included:

(1) Dillon's Chevrolet Garage, Greenfield, where $3,969 in checks and about $800 in cash were taken;

(2) Uhle's Super Market, Greenfield, where $1,100 in cash was stolen;

(3) Thomas & Co. Lumber Yard, 30 E. High St., Jeffersonville, where $58 in cash was missing;

(4) O. J. Glaze Coal Co., 25 E. High St., Jeffersonville, where burglars found an open safe empty; and

(5) Davis Drug Store, 11 S. Main St., Jeffersonville, where the safe was opened but nothing taken.

* * *

OFFICIALS from the Bureau of Criminal Investigation said that all jobs were "professional" and that all were done in much the same manner.

In each instance, back doors of the business places were pried open. Tumbler locking mechanisms were "punched out" of three of the four safes. The lock on the Dillon safe apparently resisted punching, and the safe was torn apart.

The fifth safe, at Glaze's, was found open.

Greenfield Police Chief Floyd Matlack said the checks taken at Dillon's all bore the garage's endorsement stamp and "probably would be hard to cash."

A preliminary check indicated the burglars left no fingerprints, BCI officials said. There was no evidence of any explosives being used, they added.

The open safe at Glaze's probably was visible from the street and may have tempted burglars who did not originally intend a break there according to Jeffersonville Police Chief Lester Estle, who with Sheriff Orland Hays and his

Anti-Subversive Program Overhaul under Scrutiny

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proposals for overhauling government anti-subversive programs today won praise from some members of Congress. But there was strong criticism of a recommendation for criminal penalties for publishing "secret" information.

Coming in for praise was a bipartisan commission's proposal for a sweeping revision of the Eisenhower administration's loyalty-security program and for sealing chinks in the nation's defenses against subversion. The commission said its recommendations also are designed to offer "increased safeguards for the rights of individuals."

A target of criticism was the proposed law under which a newspaperman could be fined $10,000 and sent to prison for five years for publishing secret information.

SOME congressmen also assailed a commission proposal to legalize the use of wiretap evidence in court cases involving national security.

The 12-man commission, set up by Congress, made its recommendations Saturday in an 800-page report to Congress and President Eisenhower. The commission was established in 1955 to make an objective, nonpolitical study of loyalty-security problems in government service and defense industry.

The commission's chairman, Lloyd Wright, told a new conference the group sought to "cure those things that have been woefully lacking" in government security programs. Wright, a Los Angeles attorney, is a former president of the American Bar Assn.

Many of the recommendations could be put into effect by Eisenhower by executive order, but the proposals dealing with "leaks" of secret information and with wiretap evidence would require legislation.

* * *

HOWEVER, Senators Stennis (D-Miss) and Cotton (R-NH), both of whom served on the commission, said there is little prospect of any action by Congress in the remaining weeks of the present session. As a practical matter, they said, too little time is left.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower felt the commission had turned in "a good report." He declined further comment.

Under commission proposals, (1) loyalty cases would be separated from those involving employes regarded as security risks only because of undesirable personal habits; (2) a limited right to confront accusers would be granted; and (3) a new agency would be created in an effort to assure improved administration of the program.

Other recommendations dealt with the industrial security program in defense plants, port and air transport security, the issuance of passports, the screening of immigrants, and the attorney general's list of subversive organizations.

Rocket Expert Who Defied Wilson Order Faces Trial

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—One of the Army's top rocket experts, Col. John C. Nickerson Jr., who deliberately courted a court-martial will get one, beginning Tuesday.

Nickerson, 41-year-old West Point graduate and World War II hero, is scheduled to appear before a 10-man general court-martial board at 9 a. m. Tuesday to answer 18 charges of espionage, perjury and disobedience of orders.

The espionage charge stems from the Army's accusation that he distributed secret information to unauthorized persons which, if it had come into the hands of an enemy, could have damaged the nation's security.

No trial since the court-martial of Brig. Gen. Billy Mitchell in 1925 has involved such outright questioning of the wisdom of his superiors as this one.

* * *

MITCHELL was court-martialed for insisting on the superiority of air power over surface battleships, while Nickerson insists that to abandon the Army's long range missile program would endanger the nation.

If convicted on all 18 specifications charging violations of two sections of the uniform code of military justice, the bespectacled Nickerson could receive a 46-year prison sentence, a dishonorable discharge and a $10,000 fine.

The two-time winner of the Silver Star medal for gallantry in World War II, is primarily involved in a single-handed battle to save the Army's development of a 1,500-mile intermediate range ballistic missile (IRBM).

Last November Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson issued an order limiting the Army to development of a 200-mile missile.

* * *

AT THE TIME the Army had in the works the Jupiter missile, which later flew 1,650 miles in 17½ minutes and which is the only reported successful flight of a ballistic missile beyond 200 miles.

In the aftermath of the Wilson order, Nickerson wrote his now famed "Comments on the Wilson Memoranda," which the Army maintains contained top secret information.

This writing, plus three subsequent documents, were distributed to editors, congressman, a newspaper columnist and industrial men.

Nickerson, supporting his argument with technical data, contended that in the race with Russia to produce an IRBM and an intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM), the Army was far ahead of the other services.

In distributing his arguments Nickerson admittedly sought to focus public attention on the missile program — and the Army's role therein.

* * *

AT A BRIEF news conference yesterday, Nickerson said in commenting on his impending trial, "I am confident of the outcome." He specified that he meant his own personal situation.

The trial, which is to be held in a low, long and hot frame building just inside the main gate at the Redstone Arsenal is to produce testimony from some of the nation's top missile men, including Dr. Wernher Von Braun, director of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency and one of the developers of the German V2 rocket in World War II.

Tail Assembly Block Blamed In Air Crash

PORT HARDY, B. C. (AP) — The crash of a Pacific Western Airlines plane that killed 14 of the 18 persons aboard Sunday was apparently due to a ground control block left on the tail assembly.

This was indicated in a preliminary report issued by the line's headquarters.

The plane crashed as it was attempting to land a few minutes after taking off on its regularly scheduled flight to Vancouver, 190 air miles southeast.

In a statement released to the press, the airline said the pilot, Capt. Gerald W. Allen, 37, Vancouver, reported by radio immediately after taking off he was not satisfied with the feel of the plane and was returning for a checkup.

The airline statement said: "It appears from early reports that the cause of the accident was failure of some personnel to remove one of the ground control blocks which are always placed on the tail assembly."

Fifth Test Shot Fired

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—The fifth shot of the current nuclear test series went off with a spectacular bang over Frenchman's Flat at 6:30 this morning.

The blast was well above nominal in size and was the largest so far of the current series. Observers watching it through high density goggles from 40 miles away reported it came off like a second sunrise.

The fireball, as seen from the observation point used by newsmen, rose above the horizon and formed what looked like a massive cauliflower head.

The nuclear device was exploded from a balloon about 700 feet above the desert. More than 850 military observers and a number of Civil Defense officials witnessed the explosion. The military men were in trenches about 4,500 yards from Ground Zero.

The exact size of the blast was not disclosed, but the Atomic Energy Commission had said earlier that it would be above 20 kilotons, or more powerful than the bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki during World War II.

Boys Confess Ambush Slaying

Son Relates Story Of Shooting Father

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Three boys Sunday confessed the murder of the father of one of them.

Police identified the son of a man who died in the Pennsylvania electric chair a little over two years ago as the member of the trio who actually pulled the trigger and pumped a slug from a .30-30 rifle into the chest of 35-year-old Martin Daniels Sr. as he sat on the stoop of his south Philadelphia home late Saturday night.

"It was a pretty cold operation just like professional killers," said Homicide Capt. David H. Roberts.

* * *

ROBERTS said the boys signed a statement declaring that the murder was planned for revenge by Daniels' 16-year-old son Martin Jr. after a violent quarrel Friday night.

In the statement, the boys said the Daniels youth turned over the death weapon to 14-year-old Curtis Raymond Edwards as they and Albert Stolis, 15, lay in ambush, in a cemetery across the street from the Daniels' row home. There they waited for the stevedore to come out of the house and sit on the front step, as he invariably did on hot summer nights.

Edwards' father Grover Cleveland Edwards was executed April 25, 1955, for the Aug. 31, 1952, murder of a retired south Philadelphia baker.

Slayer Faces Chair Tonight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Convicted slayer Harold E. Shackelford, 33, faces execution in Ohio Penitentiary's electric chair tonight unless appeal is made to the state Supreme Court.

When asked if he planned an appeal, Shackelford's attorney, Robert B. Weaver of Newark, said he would have a statement this afternoon.

Gov. C. William O'Neill last Friday refused a clemency plea. That left the high court as the only hope of staying the execution scheduled for sometime after 8 p. m.

Suez Impact On Economy Short-Lived

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United Nations today reported that the economic shock of the Suez crisis on the Middle East was sharp but quickly diffused. By April much of the impact had spent its force, primarily because the demand for oil continued to increase.

Middle East trade with the communist countries, which increased somewhat during 1955-56, expanded further because of the crisis.

The developments were shown in a U. N. survey, "Economic Developments In the Middle East, 1955-1956." A special section was devoted to a preliminary review of the economic effect of the canal crisis on the region.

From 1954 until the fall of dictator Juan D. Peron in 1955, Cooke was ambassador to Spain and chief of the Argentine delegation to the U.N.

Hailstones Pelt Farmers, 16 Require Hospital Treatment

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Violent weekend storms inflicted new misery and damage on rain-plagued Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Twenty Mexican farmers were caught in an open field Sunday near Ft. Stockton, Tex., when a vicious storm began showering them with hail stones "bigger than baseballs."

Nineteen were injured, 16 of them requiring hospitalization for cuts and bruises. The injured were described as resembling in appearance victims of "a drunken brawl."

The hail caused considerable damage to cotton crops in the area.

A cloudburst dumped 3 inches of rain at Midland in West Texas. High winds snapped some power lines.

* * *

DOWNPOURS in Oklahoma caused some flash flooding and sent rivers on the rise again.

The rains apparently were the final blow to many wheat farmers in northwestern counties of the state. Farmers in Woodward and southern Ellis counties were reported giving up the harvest. Parts of the state had more than 3 inches of rainfall.

Floodwaters poured into Lakin, Kan., when an irrigation ditch broke after more than 2 inches of rain. The water reached a depth of three to four feet in parts of the community. The main line of the Santa Fe Railroad was washed out, but service later was restored.

Soviet Warships In Suez After 30-Year Absence

CAIRO (AP)—Two Soviet destroyers and an auxiliary tanker steamed through the Suez Canal Sunday the first Russian warships to do since World War I.

The Soviets were quoted by canal authorities as saying the ships were headed for Vladivostok in the Far East, but "may spend some time in the Red Sea."

The Red Sea is one of the trouble spots in the Middle East dispute. It is there Egypt and her allies are involved in a dispute with Israel over entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba.

Speculation arose that the voyage of the Soviet vessels was a show of strength.

The passage of the destroyers is part of Soviet navy activity in the Mediterranean area in the past few days. Thursday and Friday a cruiser, two destroyers and three torpedo boats sailed through the Turkish Straits into the Mediterranean.

Lutheran Leader Dies in Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dr. George W. Miley of Columbus, president of the Ohio Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America for 16 years, died today in a Columbus hospital. He was 66.

Dr. Miley would have completed his fourth four-year term July 31. He did not seek re-election at the Synod's convention last month in Springfield and Dr. Frederick C. Wiegman was elected to succeed him.

Anti-Subversive Program Overhaul under Scrutiny

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proposals for overhauling government anti-subversive programs today won praise from some members of Congress. But there was strong criticism of a recommendation for criminal penalties for publishing "secret" information.

Coming in for praise was a bipartisan commission's proposal for a sweeping revision of the Eisenhower administration's loyalty-security program and for sealing chinks in the nation's defenses against subversion. The commission said its recommendations also are designed to offer "increased safeguards for the rights of individuals."

A target of criticism was the proposed law under which a newspaperman could be fined $10,000 and sent to prison for five years for publishing secret information.

SOME congressmen also assailed a commission proposal to legalize the use of wiretap evidence in court cases involving national security.

The 12-man commission, set up by Congress, made its recommendations Saturday in an 800-page report to Congress and President Eisenhower. The commission was established in 1955 to make an objective, nonpolitical study of loyalty-security problems in government service and defense industry.

The commission's chairman, Lloyd Wright, told a new conference the group sought to "cure those things that have been woefully lacking" in government security programs. Wright, a Los Angeles attorney, is a former president of the American Bar Assn.

Many of the recommendations could be put into effect by Eisenhower by executive order, but the proposals dealing with "leaks" of secret information and with wiretap evidence would require legislation.

* * *

HOWEVER, Senators Stennis (D-Miss) and Cotton (R-NH), both of whom served on the commission, said there is little prospect of any action by Congress in the remaining weeks of the present session. As a practical matter, they said, too little time is left.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower felt the commission had turned in "a good report." He declined further comment.

Under commission proposals, (1) loyalty cases would be separated from those involving employes regarded as security risks only because of undesirable personal habits; (2) a limited right to confront accusers would be granted; and (3) a new agency would be created in an effort to assure improved administration of the program.

Other recommendations dealt with the industrial security program in defense plants, port and air transport security, the issuance of passports, the screening of immigrants, and the attorney general's list of subversive organizations.

'Little Inch' Pipeline To Carry Oil Products

The "Little Inch" pipeline which crosses Fayette County north of Bloomingburg, soon will become an oil products carrier instead of natural gas line.

A long battle over conversion of the pipeline ended Saturday when the Federal Power Commission issued an order reaffirming its authorization of two years ago for the conversion.

Under the order, the Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. Shreveport, La., was authorized to remove a 1,168 - mile segment of the pipeline— running from Baytown, Tex., through Ohio to Moundsville, W. Va.— from natural gas service.

The section will connect with a 14 - inch pipeline which Texas Eastern will build from Seymour, Ind., to Chicago. Completion of the $35 million project will establish the first major petroleum products common carrier pipeline between the Gulf Coast and the Midwest.

* * *

TEXAS EASTERN'S products system initially will have available about 4.4 million barrels of tank capacity. Tankage will be located at Beaumont, Baytown and Carthage, Tex.; El Dorado and Arkansas City, Ark., and at Seymour, Ind.

The firm acquired "Little Inch" from the federal government when it bought the "Big Inch" in 1947. Purchase price was $143,127,000. Upon completion of Texas Eastern's presently authorized expansion programs, total assets will be in excess of $75 million.

Commissioners Hike Insurance Coverage

A report was made to the Fayette County Board of Commissioners Monday by Sam Parrett of the Parrett Insurance Agency, who is agent of record, named to look after details of proper placement and distribution of insurance on county property under control of the commissioners.

Parrett explained the results of the recent annual inspection made by insurance companies holding policies on county property and presented recommendations for adjustments in some of the policies necessary for a slight increase in insurance coverage for proper protection of increased values and replacement.
increased values and replacement.

The total amount of additional insurance coverage recommended was $23,480. The report was approved by the commissioners and instructions given to follow the suggestions made.

Parrett works with the Fayette County Insurance Assn. in decisions relative to county insurance. The amount earned by different agencies which carry the insurance goes into the association treasury for use in promotion of educational and safety matters touching insurance hazards.

No official action was taken on other matters by the commissioners Monday except approval of bills and regular routine transactions.

ANOTHER BURGLARY at a farm occupied by Mrs. L. H. Korn, Route 70 north, apparently about 11 p. m. Sunday, had "no obvious connection" with the five safe jobs, Sheriff Orland Hays said.

Some 20 or 25 White Rock chickens were taken from the hen house and a small radio from the barn at the farm, Ed Rose, the tenant estimated. Doors to both buildings were found unlatched.

Rose, who lives in a house some distance from the barn said he heard noises about 11 p. m. and saw a car parked near the driveway.

He said he did not report it because cars often stop near the farm.

Mrs. Korn was away for the night.

New Trial Plea Planned

Bandit Faces Death In Holdup Slaying

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Attorney Frank Lucas said today he will file a motion for a new trial for 39-year-old Harry Dale Bundy convicted for first degree murder in a holdup-slaying at a Uniontown grocery last fall.

Bundy would face death in the Ohio Penitentiary electric chair if his conviction, without a recommendation of mercy, is allowed to stand.

Ralph Ross, co-counsel with Lucas in the defense of Bundy, said the motion for a new trial will be based on alleged trial errors and will state that the verdict was "against the weight of evidence."

If the motion is denied, Ross said, the conviction will be appealed to the Fifth District Court of Appeals here. He said the defense has 30 days to make such an appeal.

* * *

A JURY of seven women and five men deliberated about five hours Saturday before finding Bundy guilty of killing Reynold Amodio, 30, manager of the County Line Market.

Russell McCoy, 22, had testified during the trial that he and Bundy shot Amodio and a store clerk, Paul Cain, 35, during the $400 holdup Nov. 23. Both Bundy and McCoy who is under indictment for the Uniontown slayings and two other killings in Muskingum County as well, are from Zanesville.

Judge John Rossetti deferred sentence pending the filing of a motion for a new trial.

German Jewish Council Aids Slowly Returning Fugitives

By HERB ALTSCHULL

DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP)—The long way back is slow and often painful, but the Jews are returning to Germany.

Not in great numbers, for to many Jews the very name of Germany remains an object of hatred. They recall that the Nazis killed 4½ million Jews in the early 40s. Of that number, 180,000 were German Jews.

In this beautiful city on the Rhine, the German Jews have set up a council whose basic job is to help the returning fugitives settle comfortably into new homes.

The man who runs the council is a lawyer from Berlin, Dr. Hendrik van Dam. He fled Germany during the reign of terror and returned a decade ago.

"The people who come back should have no feeling of resentment, nor should they have any pro-German sentimentality," says Dr. van Dam.

"Jews with such sentiments can live peacefully outside Germany, but there is no place for them here."

He says the present-day Jewish population of Germany is about 30,000, of whom some 2,500 live in Communist East Germany.

This is a handful compared to the bustling, influential Jewish community of 600,000 in Germany before the rise of Hitler.

Last year alone, he reports, the number of Jews in Germany increased by 2,000. The larger proportion of the returnees came from Israel, where they found their economic opportunities restricted.

Van Dam says the Jews now living in Germany have been assimilated quietly and peaceably into the German community. He was lavish in his praise of the Bonn government's role in easing their return.

Each returning Jew receives a minimum of 6,000 marks ($1,500) in compensation from the federal government. Additionally he is repaid for losses to real estate and other real property.

As a reminder to the German people that "it must never happen again," the Germany government has seen to it that the scene of the darkest hour of German history—Belsen, Dachau and the others — remain standing as testimonials. These former death camps for millions of Jews stand in all their grimness, with their gas chambers and execution grounds.

"There is anti-Semitism everywhere," Van Dam said. "In Germany, anti-Semitism today is as it is everywhere else. There is a potential for anti-Semitism but there also are those who attack anti-Semitism vigorously.

"The great majority is indifferent."

Deaths and Funerals

Ruth Smith, 63, Hangs Self in Farm Building

Miss Ruth M. Smith, 63, of 421½ N. North St., took her own life sometime between noon and midnight Saturday at the house she maintained for occasional visits to her farm on Devalon Rd.

Her body was found hanging from a rafter in a small tool shed at the rear of the house by Mr. and Mrs. Willard Bloomer and Deputy Sheriff Charles Hays about midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Bloomer said they investigated after they received a call from Miss Miriam Fite, with whom Miss Smith shared an apartment in Washington C. H. They said Miss Fite expressed concern, when Miss Smith failed to return from the farm.

The Bloomers operate Miss Smith's farm and live just across the road.

* * *

WHEN Mr. and Mrs. Bloomer looked around the house and found no light, Sheriff Orland Hays said they went to the shed. There, they saw the door ajar and through the opening, saw Miss Smith's dress.

Without going inside, Bloomer called the sheriff's office and Deputy Hays responded. Mr. and Mrs. Bloomer and the deputy then went into the shed where they found Miss Smith's body. Dr. Joseph M. Herbert ruled the death a suicide.

Just when death occurred remains uncertain. Bloomer said he talked with Miss Smith at about 11 a. m. and, so far as can be ascertained, he was the last person to see her.

Miss Smith left five notes, one in the shed under her body addressed to John Gerstner, Washington C. H. funeral director, and the other four in the house. Those in the house were sealed and addressed to Miss Fite, Bloomer, Miss Jane Saxon of New York, another long time friend, and the other to her three nieces.

Only the one to Gerstner was opened by the sheriff. It gave ill health as the reason for her suicide, asked that the other four notes in the house be delivered and gave some instructions for her funeral and burial.

* * *

THE THREE nieces are Mrs. Mary Fishel of Willoughby, Miss Kathryn Forman of Washington, D. C., and Miss Elsie Forman of Barbourville, Ky.

Miss Smith, a native and lifelong resident of Fayette County, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Smith. She was a member of Grace Methodist Church and was well known among members of the city's older families.

Private services will be held in the Gerstner Funeral Home by the Rev. L. J. Poe, pastor of Grace Church, at 10 a. m. Tuesday. Among her requests was that flowers be omitted.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 5 p. m. Monday.

Burial will be in Washington Cemetery.

'Little Inch' Pipeline To Carry Oil Products

The "Little Inch" pipeline which crosses Fayette County north of Bloomingburg, soon will become an oil products carrier instead of natural gas line.

A long battle over conversion of the pipeline ended Saturday when the Federal Power Commission issued an order reaffirming its authorization of two years ago for the conversion.

Under the order, the Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. Shreveport, La., was authorized to remove a 1,168 - mile segment of the pipeline— running from Baytown, Tex., through Ohio to Moundsville, W. Va.— from natural gas service.

The section will connect with a 14 - inch pipeline which Texas Eastern will build from Seymour, Ind., to Chicago. Completion of the $35 million project will establish the first major petroleum products common carrier pipeline between the Gulf Coast and the Midwest.

* * *

TEXAS EASTERN also plans to construct $61 million in substitute facilities to replace the gas capacity of the "Little Inch," according to the firm's president. Orville S. Carpenter.

When the reconversion is complete, Texas Eastern will be operating about 1,700 miles of pipeline in petroleum products and some 5,800 miles of pipe in natural gas service.

The system will then serve a 13-state market area, composed of Ohio, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa, Arkansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia, and western Pennsylvania.

* * *

TEXAS EASTERN'S products system initially will have available about 4.4 million barrels of tank capacity. Tankage will be located at Beaumont, Baytown and Carthage, Tex.; El Dorado and Arkansas City, Ark., and at Seymour, Ind.

The firm acquired "Little Inch" from the federal government when it bought the "Big Inch" in 1947. Purchase price was $143,127,000. Upon completion of Texas Eastern's presently authorized expansion programs, total assets will be in excess of $75 million.

Commissioners Hike Insurance Coverage

A report was made to the Fayette County Board of Commissioners Monday by Sam Parrett of the Parrett Insurance Agency, who is agent of record, named to look after details of proper placement and distribution of insurance on county property under control of the commissioners.

Parrett explained the results of the recent annual inspection made by insurance companies holding policies on county property and presented recommendations for adjustments in some of the policies necessary for a slight increase in insurance coverage for proper protection of increased values and replacement.
increased values and replacement.

The total amount of additional insurance coverage recommended was $23,480. The report was approved by the commissioners and instructions given to follow the suggestions made.

Parrett works with the Fayette County Insurance Assn. in decisions relative to county insurance. The amount earned by different agencies which carry the insurance goes into the association treasury for use in promotion of educational and safety matters touching insurance hazards.

No official action was taken on other matters by the commissioners Monday except approval of bills and regular routine transactions.

ANOTHER BURGLARY at a farm occupied by Mrs. L. H. Korn, Route 70 north, apparently about 11 p. m. Sunday, had "no obvious connection" with the five safe jobs, Sheriff Orland Hays said.

Some 20 or 25 White Rock chickens were taken from the hen house and a small radio from the barn at the farm, Ed Rose, the tenant estimated. Doors to both buildings were found unlatched.

Rose, who lives in a house some distance from the barn said he heard noises about 11 p. m. and saw a car parked near the driveway.

He said he did not report it because cars often stop near the farm.

Mrs. Korn was away for the night.

It has been estimated that there are about 40,000 species of fishes in the world.

New Trial Plea Planned

Bandit Faces Death In Holdup Slaying

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Attorney Frank Lucas said today he will file a motion for a new trial for 39-year-old Harry Dale Bundy, convicted for first degree murder in a holdup-slaying at a Uniontown grocery last fall.

Bundy would face death in the Ohio Penitentiary electric chair if his conviction, without a recommendation of mercy, is allowed to stand.

Ralph Ross, co-counsel with Lucas in the defense of Bundy, said the motion for a new trial will be based on alleged trial errors and will state that the verdict was "against the weight of evidence."

If the motion is denied, Ross said, the conviction will be appealed to the Fifth District Court of Appeals here. He said the defense has 30 days to make such an appeal.

* * *

A JURY of seven women and five men deliberated about five hours Saturday before finding Bundy guilty of killing Reynold Amodio, 30, manager of the County Line Market.

Russell McCoy, 22, had testified during the trial that he and Bundy shot Amodio and a store clerk, Paul Cain, 35, during the $400 holdup Nov. 23. Both Bundy and McCoy who is under indictment for the Uniontown slayings and two other killings in Muskingum County as well, are from Zanesville.

Judge John Rossetti deferred sentence pending the filing of a motion for a new trial.

German Jewish Council Aids Slowly Returning Fugitives

By HERB ALTSCHULL

DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP)—The long way back is slow and often painful, but the Jews are returning to Germany.

Not in great numbers, for to many Jews the very name of Germany remains an object of hatred. They recall that the Nazis killed 4½ million Jews in the early 40s. Of that number, 180,000 were German Jews.

In this beautiful city on the Rhine, the German Jews have set up a council whose basic job is to help the returning fugitives settle comfortably into new homes.

The man who runs the council is a lawyer from Berlin, Dr. Hendrik van Dam. He fled Germany during the reign of terror and returned a decade ago.

"The people who come back should have no feeling of resentment, nor should they have any pro-German sentimentality," says Dr. van Dam.

"Jews with such sentiments can live peacefully outside Germany, but there is no place for them here."

He says the present-day Jewish population of Germany is about 30,000, of whom some 2,500 live in Communist East Germany.

This is a handful compared to the bustling, influential Jewish community of 600,000 in Germany before the rise of Hitler.

Last year alone, he reports, the number of Jews in Germany increased by 2,000. The larger proportion of the returnees came from Israel, where they found their economic opportunities restricted.

Van Dam says the Jews now living in Germany have been assimilated quietly and peaceably into the German community. He was lavish in his praise of the Bonn government's role in easing their return.

Each returning Jew receives a minimum of 6,000 marks ($1,500) in compensation from the federal government. Additionally he is repaid for losses to real estate and other real property.

As a reminder to the German people that "it must never happen again," the Germany government has seen to it that the scene of the darkest hour of German history—Belsen, Dachau and the others — remain standing as testimonials. These former death camps for millions of Jews stand in all their grimness, with their gas chambers and execution grounds.

"There is anti-Semitism everywhere," Van Dam said. "In Germany, anti-Semitism today is as it is everywhere else. There is a potential for anti-Semitism but there also are those who attack anti-Semitism vigorously.

"The great majority is indifferent."

Deaths and Funerals

Ruth Smith, 63, Hangs Self in Farm Building

Miss Ruth M. Smith, 63, of 421½ N. North St., took her own life sometime between noon and midnight Saturday at the house she maintained for occasional visits to her farm on Devalon Rd.

Her body was found hanging from a rafter in a small tool shed at the rear of the house by Mr. and Mrs. Willard Bloomer and Deputy Sheriff Charles Hays about midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Bloomer said they investigated after they received a call from Miss Miriam Fite, with whom Miss Smith shared an apartment in Washington C. H. They said Miss Fite expressed concern, when Miss Smith failed to return from the farm.

The Bloomers operate Miss Smith's farm and live just across the road.

* * *

WHEN Mr. and Mrs. Bloomer looked around the house and found no light, Sheriff Orland Hays said they went to the shed. There, they saw the door ajar and through the opening, saw Miss Smith's dress.

Without going inside, Bloomer called the sheriff's office and Deputy Hays responded. Mr. and Mrs. Bloomer and the deputy then went into the shed where they found Miss Smith's body. Dr. Joseph M. Herbert ruled the death a suicide.

Just when death occurred remains uncertain. Bloomer said he talked with Miss Smith at about 11 a. m. and, so far as can be ascertained, he was the last person to see her.

Miss Smith left five notes. one in the shed under her body addressed to John Gerstner, Washington C. H. funeral director, and the other four in the house. Those in the house were sealed and addressed to Miss Fite, Bloomer, Miss Jane Saxon of New York, another long time friend, and the other to her three nieces.

Only the one to Gerstner was opened by the sheriff. It gave ill health as the reason for her suicide, asked that the other four notes in the house be delivered and gave some instructions for her funeral and burial.

* * *

THE THREE nieces are Mrs. Mary Fishel of Willoughby, Miss Kathryn Forman of Washington, D. C., and Miss Elsie Forman of Barbourville, Ky.

Miss Smith, a native and lifelong resident of Fayette County, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Smith. She was a member of Grace Methodist Church and was well known among members of the city's older families.

Private services will be held in the Gerstner Funeral Home by the Rev. L. J. Poe, pastor of Grace Church, at 10 a. m. Tuesday. Among her requests was that flowers be omitted.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 5 p. m. Monday.

Burial will be in Washington Cemetery.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

Due to the good work of the Health Department, there has not been a case of smallpox in Fayette County in more than 30 years.

It used to be that smallpox scares were frequent, and the disease was epidemic in some parts of the county nearly every year. But no more!

A careful period of vaccination here and elsewhere, and a close check on the disease generally have combined to eliminate the disease.

Some of the other scourges, like scarlet fever, diphtheria and typhoid fever also have largely been eliminated by proper precautions against an outbreak and when such cases do appear, something is done about it without delay.

We say that here in Fayette County we have been very fortunate not to have the epidemics we used to have, when scores frequently suffered from contagious disease and deaths occurred before the epidemics were eradicated.

However, instead of saying how fortunate we have been not to have had the epidemics, lets say how fortunate we have been to have a good health department.

In addition to widespread vaccination, the health officials of the county have done a tremendous amount of precautionary or preventive work, and improved sanitation standards with the result that many of the old health hazards, and particularly communicable diseases have been all but wiped out.

LIVE UP TO REPUTATION

Many from Fayette County and the New Holland community attended the annual supper given in the Atlanta school Thursday night by the women of the WSCS of the Atlanta Methodist Church. We found the supper tops in every particular and a lot of friendly folks serving it and attending it.

The servings were not only abundant, but additional foods on each table insured no one leaving the place hungry. One rarely finds such a supper with everything abundant and delicious, for only $1.00.

Mrs. Hallie Hoskins was general chairman, and we found her and members of her committee in the kitchen, making sure that everything was moving right in that important place.

My wife and I saw several friends in the serving line and in the dining room, including Mrs. Bruce Head, who, with Mr. Head, operates a gift and notion shop and greenhouse at the Route 22 and Atlanta Rd. crossroads, and Mrs. George Betts, of the Atlanta and Clarksburg. Mr. Betts joined us at our table, and shortly afterward Mr. and Mrs. Walter Driesbach, city, formerly of the Atlanta community, also came to the same table.

Mrs. Ulin McGee had charge of ticket sales, and announced that around 250 had been served.

We are looking forward to going back next year as the reputation of the Atlanta WSCS for serving exceptional suppers is well known.

40 YEARS AGO

Women of the county organized for Red Cross Workshop activities in connection with the war.

The Hon. Frances Neilson, prominent English statesman, appeared as the last number of the Chautauqua here.

A team owned by Thomas Wood, Columbus Rd., became frightened at CH&D train, and ran off, on S North St. One horse fell and the runaway ended without casualties.

Dahl-Campbell Wholesale Co. outing party left on annual trip, going to Toledo by train and by boat to Chicago.

Worst wreck on DT&I RR in years, near Given Station, killed three trainmen and caused heavy property loss when an engine went through a bridge damaged by fire.

The French threw the Germans back on the Ainse front in France.

The second contingent of American troops arrived in France.

Nearly 300 horses were inspected here for purchase by U. S. Army.

A CH&D wreck at Bogus Rd. tied up traffic for 26 hours. Five ore cars left the rail, and tore up track.

The B&O RR started building several miles of track for the Camp Sherman cantonment.

The sale of CH&D RR was set aside upon protest filed with court.

He spent some 18 months in the station then dropped out for a time, but last spring started in as general agent at the Union Bus Station, and has been there since. He and Mrs. Tracey reside in Jeffersonville.

About $2 in nickels was also taken, Kellenberger said.

Less Stress on Passenger Car Power and Speed

It is surprising how much talk has been heard even here among Fayette County people, and doubtless similarly in most other communities, regarding the attitude taken by the Automobile Manufacturers Association at its meeting in Detroit recently in an agreement to do away with emphasis on greater horsepower in their sales methods for passenger cars.

Reports from the meeting indicated a proposal to "encourage owners and drivers to judge such cars in terms of useful power and ability to afford safe, reliable and comfortable transportation rather than in terms of capacity for speed." Also perhaps motor magnates may feel they have reached a point of diminishing returns in seeking bigger and more potent cars.

Whether this will remain a lasting decision is questionable, but for the present the manufacturers seem to be heeding a general public demand for more safety and less speed.

It has been pointed out that the so called "horsepower race" of the last several years has stressed the building and promoting of cars which could travel faster. It is said that average auto horsepower in cars has been rising at a rate of close to 30 horsepower per year for the last few years.

If this high speed ban in car promotion proves effective it may be due to increasing cost of high powered cars, public protst against ability to produce greater top speed, also perhaps criticism from authorities, even from Congress, over the effort to attract public attention with claims of ultra driving power possibilities.

Since most present-day automobiles have far more speed than can ever be safely used, and since their overall bulk far exceeds a lot of highway, parking, and garage facilities, it was doubtless inevitable that manufacturers would sooner or later have to call a halt to the "race" that has led to less safety and a fast upsurge in highway accidents.

Many observers say this new move is leading more motorists toward showing increasing interest in small cars, not only of the sport car but also of the domestic type.

It appears quite possible that if U. S. auto interests put their skill and ingenuity into small-car lines, and back up those lines with their usual promotion genius, it will mean somethinig like a social as well as technological revolution for Americans. However, as with any other kind of revolution in this country, Americans won't get it unless they want it.

Some Amazing Arguments

By George Sokolsky

Commissioner of Education James E. Allen, Jr., of the state of New York attracted attention to an otherwise rather calm career by agreeing to suppress the 10 Commandments which is a powerful thing for any man to do.

Thus far, no mortal man has succeeded in destroying the 10 Commandments, although many managed to evade them.

It appears that in one of the school districts of New York State. it was planned to have the tablets of this universal law before the children at all times as a standard of rectitude, but there are always small minds who do not protest against Karl Marx but who find Exodus very disturbing on the ground that church and state should be separated which appears nowhere in the Constitution.

Deuteronomy is even more offensive to such people although they would fight for the right of James Joyce to be pornographic if he so chooses.

I wonder if this problem could not be solved if the 10 Commandments were attributed to Hammurabi instead of Moses. They would be the same commandments but the fleas would have nothing to get excited over as the First Amendment could not possibly refer to Hammurabi.

He has no church. In fact, most of them never heard of him. Also if the Aramaic or Hebrew instead of the Greek name for Jesus were used, it would keep the buzzing down a bit, as then the quarrelling dervishes would not know to whom reference was being made.

We could then celebrate Christmas in all the schools in the language of Syria instead of Greece. Am I not finding wonderful compromises?

This Commissioner Allen has often held views which would indicate that his processes of reasoning require some extraordinary analysis. For instance, in a response to the Supreme Court of the state of New York, dealing with the authority of the City of New York to fire some communist teachers, the commissioner holds:

". . .Commissioners have held that a board of education could not dismiss a teacher because of marriage, or because a teacher became pregnant, or because a teacher refused to carry on certain extracurricular activities not connected with her duties.

To say that, at the time, these issues were not controversial would be highly erroneous. . ."

Is that an argument against firing male Communists concerning whom the question of marriage or pregnancy has not been raised? Also I wonder about those extra curricular activities. Suppose a teacher augmented her income by selling Marijuana to children! Allen says:

". . .Those who advocate the use of a club to secure information see only a specific possible end result but have lost track of its effect in the long run on the educational system. If this procedure is possible in the narrow field of membership in the Communist party, its expansion into other areas immediately opens up. . ."

Then he says:

"Communism is the concern at the moment. Next year it may be immorality, or income tax evasion, or something else. It is perhaps just as important for a teacher to be moral, as an illustration, as it is not to belong to the Communist party. . ."

And who would say Dr. Allen nay to that? After all, it is our children we entrust to these teacher, not desks and benches. And our children ought to be taught by moral teachers.

Would this didactic educator have them taught by immoral teachers? If it is evil for children to be taught by Communists or immoral persons, then the Communists or immoral persons should be fired from the school system.

Dr. Allen objects to "informers" on the childish notion that a tattle-tale is a very dangerous person, particularly as it upsets the morale of others, which it well might do.

But suppose a teacher is a bigamist who has six wives in different parts of the state and nobody knows about it until one of the wives tattles and the case comes to court. Who is to be punished for this, the bigamist or the tattle-tale bearer? Which is immoral?

This question is not far-fetched. It is basic because when one objects to "informers," why not object to a plaintiff, who is generally the chief informer in a case, providng a bill of particulars. We are becoming so involved in legal sophistries these days that it would seem to be sounder to violate the law then to obey it.

No Fancy Frills for Court Justice and Wife on Tour

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. Supreme Court Justice Burton and his wife will sign in simply as "Harold and Selma Burton" this summer when they go on their sixth tour of Europe.

"We don't want anybody to think they have to entertain for us," explains the gracious Mrs. Burton. "We don't aim to go to dances and dinner parties. We have them here all the year and we enjoy them. We want to do as we please, when we please, for a few weeks."

The Burtons, one of the capital's most popular official couples, are sailing July 13, the trip taking eight days from New York to Rotterdam.

"We adore the ocean," Mrs. Burton says. "We catch up on our reading, do a lot of shipboard walking, sometimes about seven miles a day. We meet and chat with our shipboard companions. We find it restful and fun doing things together."

This year the Burtons expect to concentrate on Spain, after visits in Paris and Switzerland. They've been going to Europe every odd year since 1947. The even years they travel about the United States.

Before going abroad the Burtons will have their annual family get-together in the private dining room of the hotel where they stay in Cleveland on visits back home. They sold their home when the justice first came to Washington as a senator.

Three of their children are married and living in Cleveland, a fourth lives 100 miles away at Beaver Falls. There are 10 grandchildren. They will be on hand for the reunion.

"We have wonderful times when we're all together," Mrs. Burton said. "We have all kinds of games for the children and I just adore them. I don't suppose I'll ever grow up."

HALSTEAD, England (AP) — Albert Heys watched contemptuously Sunday as stunt man Stan Lindberg made three 60-foot dives into a tiny tank of water at the annual village fair.

"It's simple, I could do it myself," Heys told bystanders.

A few minutes later the 50-year-old factory worker whipped off his coat, scaled a ladder to the diving platform. jumped off, hit the side of the tank and was killed.

A PORTLY OLD PARTY spoke earnestly and lengthily at a high school graduation, and since a very small part of the audience was listening to him, the harm done was negligible. The principal, afraid that the distinguished guest's feelings might be hurt, buttered him up when the ceremony was concluded.

"I deeply enjoyed your account," he purred, "of how you climbed the ladder of success, rung by rung. I take it that you are now a very wealthy man."

"On the contrary," the speaker assured him. "I haven't got a bean. But can I climb ladders!"

Diet and Health

Just Plain Water Is Most Vital Drink

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

You can't live very long without water. It plays a vital role in our everyday life. Yet except during extremely hot weather, you probably seldom think about it or about how much you need to keep healthy.

Not Enough

The simple truth is that very few of us drink enough water. Fortunately, nature comes to the rescue by placing a sizable supply of it in many of the foods we eat.

While we doctors know water is important to our health and physical development, we do not know precisely what role it plays in many ways. However, we believe that our development, nutrition, growth of cells and our health in general depend upon certain chemical reactions.

Adequate Supply

If these reactions are to be carried out properly, the body must have an adequate water supply. If it does not, these actions are incomplete and our health suffers.

Although nature provided our bodies with a method of storing fat, she neglected to establish similar facilities for storing water. She did, however, supply us with a sort of an automatic danger signal which warns us when our bodies need water. The signal, of course, is thirst.

Generally, the amount of water you drink in a single day can be regulated pretty safely on the basis of thirst. If you are excessively thirsty or otherwise in ill health, it is a different matter.

For the average person in good health most doctors recommend from six to eight glasses of water and other liquids a day.

Eight Glasses a Day

On warm days, especially, you probably should drink about eight glasses each day.

A sort of forced-feeding method might be advisable. Whether you are thirsty or not, drink a glass o water at regular intervals during the hot summer days.

You must remember that we have millions of perspiration glands, miles of ducts, lungs and kidneys. Through these we lose about three quarts of water each day.

To maintain good health we must immediately and continuously replace all this lost fluid.

He said the first egg "went to the opposite end of the reproductive tract where it joined with another yolk and started the whole egg formation process all over again."

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's program for bouncing security risks out of the government has taken two strong blows.

The Supreme Court jolted it in 1956. A 12-man commission has just recommended a sweeping overhaul in its procedures.

This commission of Democrats and Republicans — lawyers, senators, congressmen, educators — was created by Congress over 18 months ago to find a way to protect the government while being fair to individuals.

In an 807-page report over the weekend it recommended going back to President Truman's kind of program — but with some very important changes. However, Lloyd Wright, the commission chairman, denied the report amounted to "scuttling" the Eisenhower program.

The report said the program has been "neither fish nor fowl, resulting in inconclusive adjudications, bewildered security personnel, employe fear and distrust, and general public criticism."

This is a briefed-down comparison between the Truman and Eisenhower programs and the kind the commission recommended:

Under a 1912 law, still on the books, government workers who are loyal but unfit for government service, whether or not they are in sensitive jobs, can be classed as "unsuitable."

In 1947 Truman made a sharp distinction between unsuitability and disloyalty. He still let the 1912 law get rid of the loyal but unsuitable. But for routing out those of questionable loyalty, he set up a special program. This lasted five years.

In 1953 Eisenhower scrapped Truman's program, substituted his own. This was a grab bag, throwing the loyal but unsuitable in with the disloyal under the one program, without distinction.

Eisenhower applied his program to all government jobs. A man did not have to be in a sensitive job affecting national security to be considered a security risk. He could be a Communist or a loyal but drunken janitor.

The grounds for firing a man as a security risk included drinking or talking too much. In 1956 the Supreme Court ruled Eisenhower had gone too far. It said the program should apply only to sensitive jobs.

As it turns out — according to the commission — most of those fired under Eisenhower's security risk program were really fired under the old 1912 standard of unsuitability.

The commission, looking over Eisenhower's program, decided Truman had the right idea in separating disloyalty from unsuitability. It did not say so in so many words, perhaps because it was a mixture of Democrats and Republicans.

It suggested a return to a loyalty program while allowing the ouster of all other employes, who are loyal but unfit, under the 1912 suitability law.

But the commission — recommending that Congress put its suggestions into law — went far beyond Truman and Eisenhower in trying to be fair to employes brought up on questions of loyalty.

Under Truman's program, a man of questionable loyalty was given a hearing by a special board in his agency and, if it ruled against him, he could appeal to the head of the agency.

If turned down there, he could appeal to a special Loyalty Review Board set up by Truman. If this board found him innocent, it had no power to restore him to his job. But it could recommend to his agency's head that he get his job back.

Under Eisenhower's program the Loyalty Review Board was abolished. An accused man had no appeal beyond the head of his agency. The 12-man commission recommended the same kind of arrangement Truman had.

But then the commission would go far beyond Truman or Eisenhower. Under neither of their programs did an accused man have the right to face his accuser or even know who had given information against him.

But the commission said — with one exception — an accused man not only had the right to confront his accusers but should be able to get a subpoena to force them to appear.

The testimony of an informer who refused to be identified for the defendant should not, in the opinion of the commission, be considered part of the testimony against the accused man.

The one exception the commission makes is this: that is the professional undercover agent of an intelligence agency, like the FBI. If he had to appear and reveal his identity his usefulness to the government would be over.

State Prison Banned for Short Terms

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A man was arrested in north Alabama recently for driving a car without a driver's license. The judge fined him $100, plus $21.85 in court courts.

Because he didn't have the money, the defendant went to prison—not to jail, but the penitentiary, doomed for life to wear the "convict" brand.

Nor was it an isolated case. Thousands of impoverished offenders have fallen victim to an antiquated Alabama law that allowed county prisoners to be sent to the penitentiary so the state would pay their fines and court costs.

But it won't happen anymore. Gov. James E. Folsom has signed into law two recently approved legislative acts abolishing the practice and compelling county authorities to keep short-term prisoners at home.

No Fancy Frills for Court Justice and Wife on Tour

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. Supreme Court Justice Burton and his wife will sign in simply as "Harold and Selma Burton" this summer when they go on their sixth tour of Europe.

"We don't want anybody to think they have to entertain for us," explains the gracious Mrs. Burton. "We don't aim to go to dances and dinner parties. We have them here all the year and we enjoy them. We want to do as we please, when we please, for a few weeks."

The Burtons, one of the capital's most popular official couples, are sailing July 13, the trip taking eight days from New York to Rotterdam.

"We adore the ocean," Mrs. Burton says. "We catch up on our reading, do a lot of shipboard walking, sometimes about seven miles a day. We meet and chat with our shipboard companions. We find it restful and fun doing things together."

This year the Burtons expect to concentrate on Spain, after visits in Paris and Switzerland. They've been going to Europe every odd year since 1947. The even years they travel about the United States.

Before going abroad the Burtons will have their annual family get-together in the private dining room of the hotel where they stay in Cleveland on visits back home. They sold their home when the justice first came to Washington as a senator.

Three of their children are married and living in Cleveland, a fourth lives 100 miles away at Beaver Falls. There are 10 grandchildren. They will be on hand for the reunion.

"We have wonderful times when we're all together," Mrs. Burton said. "We have all kinds of games for the children and I just adore them. I don't suppose I'll ever grow up."

Amateur Killed In Stunt Dive

HALSTEAD, England (AP) — Albert Heys watched contemptuously Sunday as stunt man Stan Lindberg made three 60-foot dives into a tiny tank of water at the annual village fair.

"It's simple, I could do it myself," Heys told bystanders.

A few minutes later the 50-year-old factory worker whipped off his coat, scaled a ladder to the diving platform. jumped off, hit the side of the tank and was killed.

Hollywood Mourns Veteran Actor

Requiem Mass will be celebrated at Blessed Sacrament Catholic Church.

MacBride's show business career began some 50 years ago. He appeared on Broadway, in more than 50 movies and in the "My Friend Irma" television series.

A PORTLY OLD PARTY spoke earnestly and lengthily at a high school graduation, and since a very small part of the audience was listening to him, the harm done was negligible The principal, afraid that the distinguished guest's feelings might be hurt, buttered him up when the ceremony was concluded.

"I deeply enjoyed your account," he purred, "of how you climbed the ladder of success, rung by rung. I take it that you are now a very wealthy man."

"On the contrary," the speaker assured him. "I haven't got a bean. But can I climb ladders!"

"I see you staring at that vase on the mantelpiece," observed Mrs. Grimm grimly. "Those are my husband's ashes."

"My deepest sympathy," said the visitor. "I was not aware that he had passed away."

"Passed away, my eye!" snapped Mrs. G. "He's simply too lazy to reach for an ash-tray."

Diet and Health

Just Plain Water Is Most Vital Drink

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

You can't live very long without water. It plays a vital role in our everyday life. Yet except during extremely hot weather, you probably seldom think about it or about how much you need to keep healthy.

Not Enough

The simple truth is that very few of us drink enough water. Fortunately, nature comes to the rescue by placing a sizable supply of it in many of the foods we eat.

While we doctors know water is important to our health and physical development, we do not know precisely what role it plays in many ways. However, we believe that our development, nutrition, growth of cells and our health in general depend upon certain chemical reactions.

Adequate Supply

If these reactions are to be carried out properly, the body must have an adequate water supply. If it does not, these actions are incomplete and our health suffers.

Although nature provided our bodies with a method of storing fat, she neglected to establish similar facilities for storing water. She did, however, supply us with a sort of an automatic danger signal which warns us when our bodies need water. The signal, of course, is thirst.

Generally, the amount of water you drink in a single day can be regulated pretty safely on the basis of thirst. If you are excessively thirsty or otherwise in ill health, it is a different matter.

For the average person in good health most doctors recommend from six to eight glasses of water and other liquids a day.

Eight Glasses a Day

On warm days, especially, you probably should drink about eight glasses each day.

A sort of forced - feeding method might be advisable. Whether you are thirsty or not, drink a glass o water at regular intervals during the hot summer days.

You must remember that we have millions of perspiration glands, miles of ducts, lungs and kidneys. Through these we lose about three quarts of water each day.

To maintain good health we must immediately and continuously replace all this lost fluid.

Hen's Product Is Two-for-one

HARMONY, R. I. (AP) — A hen owned by Eugene Walker laid two eggs, one within the other.

The double egg weighed about a half pound and measured 10 inches in circumference lengthwise and eight inches around the center.

Dr. William H. Wiley, head of the University of Rhode Island poultry department, said the hen's laying process apparently went into reverse as she was ready to lay the first egg.

He said the first egg "went to the opposite end of the reproductive tract where it joined with another yolk and started the whole egg formation process all over again."

The Nation Today

James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's program for bouncing security risks out of the government has taken two strong blows.

The Supreme Court jolted it in 1956. A 12-man commission has just recommended a sweeping overhaul in its procedures.

This commission of Democrats and Republicans — lawyers, senators, congressmen, educators — was created by Congress over 18 months ago to find a way to protect the government while being fair to individuals.

In an 807-page report over the weekend it recommended going back to President Truman's kind of program — but with some very important changes. However, Lloyd Wright, the commission chairman, denied the report amounted to "scuttling" the Eisenhower program.

The report said the program has been "neither fish nor fowl, resulting in inconclusive adjudications, bewildered security personnel, employe fear and distrust, and general public criticism."

This is a briefed-down comparison between the Truman and Eisenhower programs and the kind the commission recommended:

Under a 1912 law, still on the books, government workers who are loyal but unfit for government service, whether or not they are in sensitive jobs, can be classed as "unsuitable."

In 1947 Truman made a sharp distinction between unsuitability and disloyalty. He still let the 1912 law get rid of the loyal but unsuitable. But for routing out those of questionable loyalty, he set up a special program. This lasted five years.

In 1953 Eisenhower scrapped Truman's program, substituted his own. This was a grab bag, throwing the loyal but unsuitable in with the disloyal under the one program, without distinction.

Eisenhower applied his program to all government jobs. A man did not have to be in a sensitive job affecting national security to be considered a security risk. He could be a Communist or a loyal but drunken janitor.

The grounds for firing a man as a security risk included drinking or talking too much. In 1956 the Supreme Court ruled Eisenhower had gone too far. It said the program should apply only to sensitive jobs.

As it turns out — according to the commission — most of those fired under Eisenhower's security risk program were really fired under the old 1912 standard of unsuitability.

The commission, looking over Eisenhower's program, decided Truman had the right idea in separating disloyalty from unsuitability. It did not say so in so many words, perhaps because it was a mixture of Democrats and Republicans.

It suggested a return to a loyalty program while allowing the ouster of all other employes, who are loyal but unfit, under the 1912 suitability law.

But the commission — recommending that Congress put its suggestions into law — went far beyond Truman and Eisenhower in trying to be fair to employes brought up on questions of loyalty.

Under Truman's program, a man of questionable loyalty was given a hearing by a special board in his agency and, if it ruled against him, he could appeal to the head of the agency.

If turned down there, he could appeal to a special Loyalty Review Board set up by Truman. If this board found him innocent, it had no power to restore him to his job. But it could recommend to his agency's head that he get his job back.

Under Eisenhower's program the Loyalty Review Board was abolished. An accused man had no appeal beyond the head of his agency. The 12-man commission recommended the same kind of arrangement Truman had.

But then the commission would go far beyond Truman or Eisenhower. Under neither of their programs did an accused man have the right to face his accuser or even know who had given information against him.

But the commission said — with one exception — an accused man not only had the right to confront his accusers but should be able to get a subpoena to force them to appear.

The testimony of an informer who refused to be identified for the defendant should not, in the opinion of the commission, be considered part of the testimony against the accused man.

The one exception the commission makes is this: that is the professional undercover agent of an intelligence agency, like the FBI. If he had to appear and reveal his identity his usefulness to the government would be over.

State Prison Banned for Short Terms

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A man was arrested in north Alabama recently for driving a car without a driver's license. The judge fined him $100, plus $21.85 in court courts.

Because he didn't have the money, the defendant went to prison—not to jail, but the penitentiary, doomed for life to wear the "convict" brand.

Nor was it an isolated case. Thousands of impoverished offenders have fallen victim to an antiquated Alabama law that allowed county prisoners to be sent to the penitentiary so the state would pay their fines and court costs.

But it won't happen anymore. Gov. James E. Folsom has signed into law two recently approved legislative acts abolishing the practice and compelling county authorities to keep short-term prisoners at home.

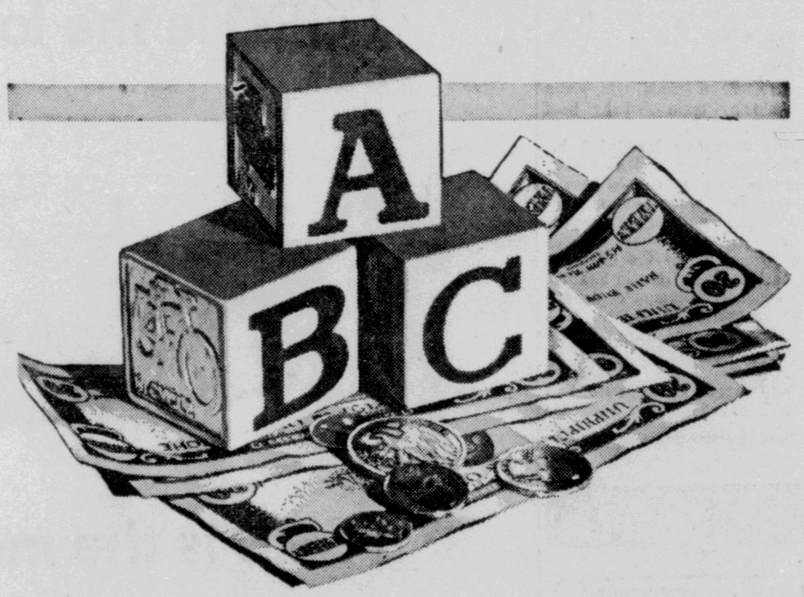

The daily number of marriages in the U. S. in June is normally about 45 per cent greater than the daily average for the year.

Bender Views New Post as Promotional

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The way former Sen. George Bender sees it, his new job as a $19,500-a-year special assistant to Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton is promotional.

For Bender, this amounts to pushing tourist trade and business in U.S. territories such as the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico and Alaska.

Bender said: "I had four other jobs offered me by the White House. But I didn't want them."

Among the rejected offers was lobbyist "at a fabulous salary," a position with the Tennessee Valley Authority and assistant to the General Services administrator.

Asked if he had plans to go back into politics, Bender replied that he had but he could not talk about them yet.

Tux Grows Popular on TV Shows

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — It seems that we've been seeing more and more dinner jackets or tuxedos on television recently.

The situation came to a climax on "TV Playhouse" when Don Ameche, playing the role of a fellow summering on Cape Cod, appeared at dinner in tuxedo. I launched an investigation.

"Look at the figures," he said. "First of all, in what year did television really get under way?"

"1948."

"Right," said Rudofker. "Now look at the figures. In 1947 the volume of business in men's formal attire for the country was 6½ million dollars. This year it will be 66½ million dollars. That increase coincides with the expanding television audience."

TV Rudofker had an uphill fight for some time trying to interest TV male performers in wearing formal clothes. "In the beginning," he said, "they wanted to strike that man-in-the-street attitude. Dungarees and all that."

The first crack in television's solid resistance to come eight years ago on "Television Theater," when an announcer consented to give his commercial while wearing a tuxedo.

In the past year a huge number of TV nighttime performers have gone formal from time to time: Jackie Gleason, Steve Allen, Perry Como.

President Billed for Talk At Governor's Conference

By JACK BELL

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Republican governors attending the 49th annual conference of state chief executives generated strong opposition today to any action by President Eisenhower to designate the 1960 GOP presidential nominee.

Eisenhower will address the conference tonight in what is billed as a nonpolitical address, dealing primarily with relations between the federal government and the states.

Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California told a news conference Sunday that if Eisenhower believes it would be to the best interests of the Republican party and the country to indicate his support of a successor, Knight would welcome such an action.

But Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland, who proposed Eisenhower's nomination to the 1952 GOP convention, said: "I don't think the President will do anything like that or should do anything like that," McKeldin said. "That certainly would not be in the nature of President Eisenhower."

McKeldin, who has been suggested as a possible candidate himself, proposed Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, Eisenhower's successor in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization command, as a possible nominee. Gruenther now is head of the American Red Cross

McKeldin said he doubts that Vice President Nixon will get any nod from Eisenhower when the nomination is at stake.

Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois said he does not believe Eisenhower should or would attempt to pick a successor. He said he doubts any of those now mentioned prominently for the Republican nomination will survive the next three years of political maneuverings.

He said he regards Nixon as the "leading" candidate at this time.

GOP Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho said he doesn't think the President can dictate the party nominee.

Republican Gov. Vernon W. Thomson of Wisconsin had the same idea.

Gov. John E. Davis of North Dakota said, "I think it would be proper for the President to assist us in selecting a nominee."

Democratic governors said they do not believe any member of their party has reached a commanding position in the early tactical maneuvers.

Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky was one of the few willing to acknowledge that he would be happy to become the party's nominee.

"Just say for me," Chandler said, "that if nominated I would accept and if elected I would serve."

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — It seems that we've been seeing more and more dinner jackets or tuxedos on television recently.

The situation came to a climax on "TV Playhouse" when Don Ameche, playing the role of a fellow summering on Cape Cod, appeared at dinner in tuxedo. I launched an investigation.

"Look at the figures," he said. "First of all, in what year did television really get under way?"

"1948."

"Right," said Rudofker. "Now look at the figures. In 1947 the volume of business in men's formal attire for the country was 6½ million dollars. This year it will be 66½ million dollars. That increase coincides with the expanding television audience."

TV Rudofker had an uphill fight for some time trying to interest TV male performers in wearing formal clothes. "In the beginning," he said, "they wanted to strike that man-in-the-street attitude. Dungarees and all that."

The first crack in television's solid resistance to come eight years ago on "Television Theater," when an announcer consented to give his commercial while wearing a tuxedo.

In the past year a huge number of TV nighttime performers have gone formal from time to time: Jackie Gleason, Steve Allen, Perry Como.

Lightning Splits New York Barn

SHERBURNE, N. Y. (AP)—Farmer Andrew Bruno said lightning split his barn in two Sunday night. One half fell across a roadway and the other half burned, killing 39 head of cattle.

The resulting fire destroyed another barn and a milkshed.

The electrical storm knocked out power in this upstate New York community for half an hour.

President Billed for Talk At Governor's Conference

By JACK BELL

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Republican governors attending the 49th annual conference of state chief executives generated strong opposition today to any action by President Eisenhower to designate the 1960 GOP presidential nominee.

Eisenhower will address the conference tonight in what is billed as a nonpolitical address, dealing primarily with relations between the federal government and the states.

Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California told a news conference Sunday that if Eisenhower believes it would be to the best interests of the Republican party and the country to indicate his support of a successor, Knight would welcome such an action.

But Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland, who proposed Eisenhower's nomination to the 1952 GOP convention, said: "I don't think the President will do anything like that or should do anything like that," McKeldin said. "That certainly would not be in the nature of President Eisenhower."

McKeldin, who has been suggested as a possible candidate himself, proposed Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, Eisenhower's successor in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization command, as a possible nominee. Gruenther now is head of the American Red Cross.

McKeldin said he doubts that Vice President Nixon will get any nod from Eisenhower when the nomination is at stake.

Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois said he does not believe Eisenhower should or would attempt to pick a successor. He said he doubts any of those now mentioned prominently for the Republican nomination will survive the next three years of political maneuverings.

He said he regards Nixon as the "leading" candidate at this time.

GOP Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho said he doesn't think the President, can dictate the party nominee.

Republican Gov. Vernon W. Thomson of Wisconsin had the same idea.

Gov. John E. Davis of North Dakota said, "I think it would be proper for the President to assist us in selecting a nominee."

Democratic governors said they do not believe any member of their party has reached a commanding position in the early tactical maneuvers.

Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky was one of the few willing to acknowledge that he would be happy to become the party's nominee.

"Just say for me," Chandler said, "that if nominated I would accept and if elected I would serve."

TV Show's Problems Unending

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—You've read about the hell a big time television comic goes through preparing for a show. What happens afterward?

I asked Jerry Lewis for a postmortem on his NBC show of two weeks ago and he obliged.

Jerry told me he finished the show at 7 p.m. Hollywood time and headed for his Pacific Palisades home. With his family, he watched the show when it came on for the Western re-telecast at 9. His reaction?

"The show came off amazingly well, considering how I had to cut it on the air. I knew something had to come out and I had to decide while I was performing. I couldn't cut the Charlie Chan skit and I didn't want to lose the 'Sonny Boy.'

"The only solution was to tell Edie Gorme on-camera that we had to skip her second song. Then I had to cut some things out of the Sammy Davis Jr. act."

Somehow the show ended up even. After watching it, Jerry collapsed in bed and his wife Patti brought him dinner.

"For two whole days I didn't get up," he said. "I'm completely beat after a show. For three nights before the show I got virtually no sleep. I work around the clock and have in mind 250 camera positions, so I know where the camera is at all times."

After his extended rest, he studied the reviews and the mail. Every letter from fans is examined and the consensus is weighed. The fan reaction told Jerry what he had already suspected: that the hit of the show was the "Sonny Boy" routine with son Gary and father Danny.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have been employed by an old line agency, working for the same man for 13 years. My love for this man is beyond words and I have served him faithfully as office wife and secretary. There is nothing I wouldn't do for him—even shine his shoes if necessary.

Although he is married, with a family, his wife has been ailing for the last three years. My chief concern, which is giving my conscience a twinge, is my insatiable jealousy.

I resent the secretaries he hires, and I make it so miserable for them, as head girl, that they either resign or transfer. What can I do to conquer this? I cannot stand it when there is another woman in his office, alone with him. Sometimes I feel that people dislike me.

How can I stop loving him? It is wrong, I know, when he belongs to someone else. What can I do to help myself? Should I see a psychiatrist? Or resign?

F. P.

DEAR F. P.: Your terrible anxiety and resentment and sense of guilty, furtive unworthiness, all of which contribute to your feeling of "insatiable jealousy," are a net result of investing too much of your self in service to the boss, who gives so little in return, of genuine affection, appreciation and loyalty.

Honest dividends on devotion must be received, in some measure, by all loving individuals, if they are to maintain sanity and emotional health. Yet on this score your boss has little if anything to give, it seems, if he had, he would be faithful to his wife, and somehow successful in establishing a right relationship toward you—so that you could get on the beam of really living.

Now, as to how you can stop loving the boss—it may be helpful to keep in mind the political axiom that "You can't beat something with nothing." You've become spellbound by the boss primarily because you don't have any counter-ballast of "love" - interest in your private life. And that's the situation that cries for correction.

Unfortunately, your existence apart from the office is a wasteland of sorts, devoid of devoted friendships, cherished intimacies, reliable sociability and such. Thus you take home with you, each night, the events of the office day, and thus your boss continues to figure dominantly in your off-duty thinking, when you should be enjoying a change-of-pace in another "world" of associations.

So, your captivity to the boss must be solved indirectly—by your tunnelling a way out, into new avenues of self-expression and social development, that eventually will absorb more and more of your thinking, and thereby restore your soul to freedom.

I believe it is C. S. Lewis, famous author of "The Screwtape Letters" (Macmillan)—a witty expose of the devil's tactics—who makes the point that wrongly - chosen courses of action always lead to dead-end frustration. And that this form of self-torture is, in effect, the devil's malicious "crowning" of sinners. It is their payoff for trying to win at playing his game.

Should you see a psychiatrist? Or resign? Well, in the big town from which you write, some few of the leading churches provide "psychiatrically - oriented" pastoral counselling—and I think this type of leadership can do most to relieve your crisis, and bring you around to the right path of life.

Psychiatry may throw light on your emotional poverty — show you how you got that way—but worthy fellowship, sought and found with God's help, is the only saving remedy for it.

Mortar Shells Fall Short, 4 Soldiers Killed

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP) — The Army continued its investigation today in the death of four soldiers killed Saturday when several 4.2 mortar shells dropped in the midst of an infantry company staging a demonstration attack on a hill position.

At first it was believed only one shell fell short and burst among 175 men of Company B of the 522nd Infantry Battalion as they charged the hill. The Army reported Sunday more than one shell fell.

Some 300 spectators a mile from the scene saw the accident. Fourteen other soldiers were injured, five seriously.

The word tornado is derived from the Spanish "tronada," meaning thunderstorm.

So seldom can you do all you'd really wish to do for grief-stricken friends, or find exactly the right words for your sympathy. But you can always send flowers, with confidence that they will faithfully express both your wishes and your feeling. You can count on flowers to carry your message with perfect tact. You can count on us to advise a fitting selection, and to handle all details with perfect taste.

Although he is married, with a family, his wife has been ailing for the last three years. My chief concern, which is giving my conscience a twinge, is my insatiable jealousy.

I resent the secretaries he hires, and I make it so miserable for them, as head girl, that they either resign or transfer. What can I do to conquer this? I cannot stand it when there is another woman in his office, alone with him. Sometimes I feel that people dislike me.

How can I stop loving him? It is wrong, I know, when he belongs to someone else What can I do to help myself? Should I see a psychiatrist? Or resign?

F. P.

DEAR F. P.: Your terrible anxiety and resentment and sense of guilty, furtive unworthiness, all of which contribute to your feeling of "insatiable jealousy," are a net result of investing too much of your self in service to the boss, who gives so little in return, of genuine affection appreciation and loyalty.

Honest dividends on devotion must be received, in some measure, by all loving individuals, if they are to maintain sanity and emotional health. Yet on this score your boss has little if anything to give, it seems. if he had, he would be faithful to his wife, and somehow successful in establishing a right relationship toward you—so that you could get on the beam of really living.

Now, as to how you can stop loving the boss—it may be helpful to keep in mind the political axiom that "You can't beat something with nothing." You've become spellbound by the boss primarily because you don't have any counter-ballast of "love" - interest in your private life. And that's the situation that cries for correction.

Unfortunately, your existence apart from the office is a wasteland of sorts, devoid of devoted friendships, cherished intimacies, reliable sociability and such. Thus you take home with you, each night, the events of the office day, and thus your boss continues to figure dominantly in your off-duty thinking, when you should be enjoying a change-of-pace in another "world" of associations

So, your captivity to the boss must be solved indirectly—by your tunnelling a way out, into new avenues of self-expression and social development, that eventually will absorb more and more of your thinking, and thereby restore your soul to freedom.

I believe it is C. S. Lewis, famous author of "The Screwtape Letters" (Macmillan)—a witty expose of the devil's tactics—who makes the point that wrongly - chosen courses of action always lead to dead-end frustration. And that this form of self-torture is, in effect, the devil's malicious "crowning" of sinners. It is their payoff for trying to win at playing his game.

Should you see a psychiatrist? Or resign? Well, in the big town from which you write, some few of the leading churches provide "psychiatrically - oriented" pastoral counselling—and I think this type of leadership can do most to relieve your crisis, and bring you around to the right path of life.

Psychiatry may throw light on your emotional poverty — show you how you got that way—but worthy fellowship, sought and found with God's help, is the only saving remedy for it.

Mortar Shells Fall Short, 4 Soldiers Killed

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP) — The Army continued its investigation today in the death of four soldiers killed Saturday when several 4.2 mortar shells dropped in the midst of an infantry company staging a demonstration attack on a hill position.

At first it was believed only one shell fell short and burst among 175 men of Company B of the 522nd Infantry Battalion as they charged the hill. The Army reported Sunday more than one shell fell.

Some 300 spectators a mile from the scene saw the accident. Fourteen other soldiers were injured, five seriously.

The word tornado is derived from the Spanish "tronada," meaning thunderstorm.

Mantle Surges Toward Triple Batting Crown

Yankee Slugger Leads in Homers, BA, 2nd in RBIs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mickey Mantle's batting splurge is the big news in the American League as the New York Yankees' slugger takes dead aim at an unprecedented second straight "triple crown."

Since the start of the stormy White Sox series in Chicago two weeks ago, the switcher has been manhandling pitching at a .500 clip.

He now leads the majors with a .392 batting average, tops both leagues with 21 home runs and trails Washington's Roy Sievers by only one run with his 51 runs batted in.

Mickey picked up 13 points Sunday with six hits in the doubleheader with Chicago.

Just when Dick Donovan appeared ready to become the first pitcher to shut out the Yankees this season — with a three-hitter going to the ninth inning of the second game, his defense failed him and Mantle hit one. Mickey's 21st homer into the third deck in right with two on unhinged Donovan and brought Paul LaPalme to the rescue. The left-handed knuckleball pitcher put down the Yanks, and the Sox won 4-3. The victory left Chicago half a game behind New York.

The Yanks won their 10th straight 9-2 in the opener, a ninth victory for Bobby Shantz and his eighth in succession. The little lefthander was helped by a 16-hit attack against loser Billy Pierce, Gerry Staley and LaPalme.

Cleveland clubbed Washington pitching for a total of 31 hits, 14 in the first game, to win a pair 14-2 and 7-5 for Early Wynn and Mike Garcia. Gene Woodling had four hits and a walk in the opener and even pitcher Ray Narleski got his first hit of the year — a homer—in the second.

Frank Malzone and Ted Williams put on a hitting show at Boston, where the Red Sox also totaled 31 hits in thumping Kansas City 10-6 and 10-1. Malzone collected five hits and Williams hit his 18th and 19th homers.

Baltimore shaded Detroit 5-4 on Jim Busby's tie-breaking homer. Ray Moore had three of the Orioles' 13 hits while going the route with a six-hitter.

St. Louis clung to a one-game lead in the ever-changing National League race. The Phillies, second Saturday night, dropped to fourth by losing a pair to Milwaukee, which took over second place.

Wally Moon drove in two runs with a triple and stole home in the Cardinals' 4-3 decision over Brooklyn. Larry Jackson won his ninth with help from Hoyt Wilhelm in the ninth.

Milwaukee downed the Phils 7-6 and 7-3 for Bob Buhl and Taylor Phillips but lost the services of Joe Adcock, who will be out for six or eight weeks due to a broken ankle. Hank Aaron's single won the first game in the ninth and Bill Bruton drove in three runs with a triple and double in the second.

Cincinnati's power, sputtering in recent weeks, came through with two homers in one game and three in the other of 5-3 and 5-2 victories over Pittsburgh. George Crowe hit a homer in each game among his six hits.

The New York Giants, who have taken a new lease on life on their western tour, won their fourth straight series. They knocked off Chicago 7-5 and 5-1 by beating the Cubs' two hot shot youngsters, 20-year-old Dick Drott and 21-year-old Moe Drabowsky. Johnny Antonelli won the first game but needed help. Curt Barclay struck out eight Cubs and missed a shutout in the second on Lee Walls' homer.

It was a rough Sunday on managers, especially in the National League. Bobby Bragan of Pittsburgh was chased for questioning a decision and so was Mayo Smith of the Phils. Freddie Hutchinson wasn't allowed to stay around long enough to see his league-leading Cardinals salt away their victory over Brooklyn. He got the heave-ho for disputing a pitch to Gino Cimoli.

Kernels Beat Cowboys, 7-2

The Kernels defeated the Cowboys Saturday night at Wilson Field by a score of 7-2 in the only youth loop game played in the county over the weekend.

The Kernels' victory over the Cowboys enabled them to go into a second place tie with the Cubs ½ game out of first place.

Joe Burnett turned in a pitching masterpiece for the Kernels. John Byrom started for the Cowboys but was not able to survive a wild first inning and Mike Molloy relieved him in the second.

The Cowboys' record now stands at 2 wins, 4 losses while the Kernels' record is 4 wins, 2 losses.

Monday night the Cubs clash with the Flashes at Wilson Field in a battle for second place.

Youth League Chatter

On the Sidelines

By DAVID KORN

At last the home run drought has ended in the Babe Ruth League. Last week in Good Hope, as his teammates were shellacking the Good Hope nine 20-3, Ron Carter, Girton catcher, slammed a low pitch high onto the roof of the high school gymnasium in left field. The ball smacked the roof in flight and then rolled down the other side of the building for the first home run of the Babe Ruth season.

Carter has been plagued by a hitting slump this year and has been trying different batting stances in an effort to overcome his weaknesses. Last year the big catcher hit a lusty .337.

MIKE VRETTOS, 11-year-old Rocket outfielder, is hitting .700 in the Minor Loop with seven hits in 10 trips to the dish. Included in his hits are several triples, on one of which he was thrown out at the plate in trying to stretch it into a homer.

BRAYS, the current Babe Ruth powerhouse, has won five straight ball games and is pulling ahead of the pack in the Ruth loop. The five straight triumphs mark the longest winning streak of any team in the Fayette County Youth League.

The Cubs now own the longest winning streak in the Little League with four straight victories. The Jets had previously owned the longest streak with four, but the Cubs downed them and kept alive their own win streak.

Responsible for the Bray streak, as far as pitching goes, have been Billy Southworth and Terry Stillings. Southworth, starting pitcher in the All-Star tilt, has won three of the five games while Stillings has won the remaining two.

Most improved hitter in the circuit at this time is Donnie Tracey of the Medics. Donnie is hitting at a fast clip and has been ably defensive behind the bat.

DAVE RENO of the Medics tried his hand at first base in the Medic-Bloomingburg game. Although Reno was credited with one error, he handled himself very well around the initial sack, and, going with the idea that first baseman must hit, he garnered two safeties.

Reno, most generally the club's shortstop or second baseman, is the fourth first baseman to have been used this year by the Medics in the absence of the injured Billy Crooks, regular at that position.

Bill Smith, Bloomingburg pitcher, set some sort of record in the Medics-Bloomingburg game. Smith was credited with five assists as he pounced on the balls hit near him.

MOTHERS of the Little League players say that their athletes never had taken care of clothes until they got their baseball uniforms from the various teams. One mother said that as soon as her son got his uniform, not only did she have trouble getting him to take it off, at bed time but that he actually hung it up on a hanger, something that he did previously not make a habit of doing.

JOE BURNETT, Kernels, was able to get even with himself when he beat the Record-Herald Flashes with a two-out single in the last inning June 17. Burnett previously had been the victim of a two-out game-winning hit on June 8. Joe was the pitcher and the Kernels were leading the Jets 6-4 going into the last of the sixth. With two on and two out, the batter hit a fly ball over the head of Kernel right-fielder Mel Wickensimer to send the Kernels and Burnett down to defeat.

SURPRISE TEAM of the Little League has been the Sunshine Cubs who have battled themselves from the cellar into the thick of the L. L. pennant scarp. On the strength of a four-game win streak, Mace Dews' boys have played excellent ball and have coasted into second place. The Cubs have suddenly rounded into a good, sound ball team with the clutch hits falling into place and the good pitching coming at the right time.

BOB HUFF, Girton third baseman, has developed into one of the hardest hitters in the Babe Ruth loop. The pitchers who got "beltin' Bob" out last year are finding it more difficult this year. Huff has six hits to his credit and all six of them are doubles.

Reds Find Batting Eye, Win Two

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Red Leg home run machine is working again and the Rhinelanders are winning games like they couldn't lose.

Two four-base blasts in the first game and three in the second powered the Reds to their second and third straight victories over Pittsburgh, 5-3 and 5-2, in Sunday's doubleheader.

First-sacker George Crowe led the way. His four-for-four performance in the opener included a three-run homer and a run-making single.

The bespectacled infielder got only two hits in the nightcap, but one of them was another homer he belted into the centerfield bleachers.

His first homer in the first inning of the opener and another by Frankie Robinson gave the Reds a quick 4-0 advantage.

The Reds were in a third inning tie, 1-1, before turning on the power again in the second game.

Don Hoak broke the tie and accounted for two runs with his homer. Then came Crowe's four-base hit and Smoky Burgess closed out the scoring in the big inning with a smash to the right-field bleachers.

There were short tempers on both sides. Pirates Bob Purkey and Dee Fondy had to leave the second game for umpire-heckling, and Manager Bobby Bragan was thrown out of the opener after disputing a second-base ball.

The Redlegs have a day off today. The New York Giants arrive here Tuesday night for the first of a three-game series.

Tribe Hopes For Revenge At Stadium

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cleveland Indians will be gunning for a measure of revenge when they open a three-game series with the New York Yankees Tuesday.

Still fresh in the Tribe's memory is their encounter with the Bronx Bombers. The Yanks, who were supposedly in a slump, exploded for 48 hits and scored 34 runs as they swept three games from the completely subdued Indians.

Since the Yankees' revival in Cleveland they have been burning up the league. Winners in 10 of their last 11 games, the Yanks have replaced the Chicago White Sox as the American League leaders.

The Indians are expecting tougher competition from New York than they got from the cellar-dwelling Washington Senators Sunday.

Rapping six Washington pitchers for 31 hits, the Tribe took both ends of the Sunday doubleheader.

Early Wynn coasted to his ninth victory in the first game as the Tribe collected 19 hits, a season's record for one game, and scored a 14-2 victory.

Gene Woodling led the blistering Indians' attack. He slammed an inside-the-park home run, two doubles and a single in four trips to the plate. He added a triple and a single in the second game.

The Tribe won the second game 7-5 on the strength of Ray Narleski's three-run homer in the eighth. It was his first homer in the major leagues.

Narleski was pitching in relief of starter Mike Garcia, who was credited with his fourth victory.

Don Mossi will pitch Tuesday's opening game against the Yankees followed by Bob Lemon and Wynn.

Adcock Suffers Broken Leg

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves' slugging first baseman, Joe Adcock, dogged by injuries the past few seasons, broke his right leg Sunday and will be lost to the club for six to eight weeks.

He was injured sliding into second base in the second inning of the nightcap of the double-header with the Philadelphia Phillies. The Braves, with Adcock driving in two runs in the first game, swept the twin bill 7-6 and 7-3.

48 Matches in First Round

Handicap Golf Tourney Starts at Country Club

The annual handicap golf tournament is now under way at the Country Club here, with 96 players paired for the 48 matches of the first round.

The tournament will be played in three flights again this year, as has been the custom for many years. In the championship flight are the 32 golfers with the best handicap ratings; the 16 matches in the first flight will bring together the golfers of medium, or average, ability and the second flight matches the 32 golfers whose handicaps are in the upper levels.

Austin Wise is the defending champion of the top flight contingent. Dick Filbin is the defending champion of the first flight and Howard Brown is the second flight defending titlist.

The first round of matches are to be played by June 30, and will reduce the field in each flight by half through the process of elimination.

The golfers make their own arrangements for the time to play. Matches not played by the deadline for each round will be forfeited.

Under rules of play, the ball may be teed up in the fairways and then only with the club head.

Pairings for the first round and the handicaps for each golfer are:

WCH Athletics Lose To Lancaster Sunday

The Athletics started the second round of the Heart of Ohio League schedule here Sunday afternoon by losing 6 to 1 to Lancaster. This game was the last on the schedule and was moved up by mutual agreement.

Six hits were all the Athletics could collect off the pitching of Jim Waugh. Waugh had a shut-out going until the bottom of the ninth when the Athletics crossed the plate with their only run of the game.

Bucky Dumford started for the Athletics and was engaged in a tight pitching duel with Waugh until the sixth inning when Lancaster pushed across three tallies on four hits and an Athletic error. Jim Matson relieved Dumford and Lancaster jumped on him for two more scores in the eighth. Al Wackman pitched the ninth, emerging unscathed by Lancaster bats.

Lancaster first baseman Bill Wollard led the 8 - hit winner attack with 3 for 5. Pitcher Waugh smashed two doubles.

Bob Hildreth and Charlie Dawes each had 2 for 4 for the Athletics.

The loss was the Athletics' third as against five triumphs, while Lancaster's record now stands at four wins and four defeats.

The second game of the Second round of the Heart of Ohio League action will get into full swing for the Athletics next Sunday, June 30, when they play Columbus at the park here on Oakland Avenue.

Mantle Surges Toward Triple Batting Crown

Yankee Slugger Leads in Homers, BA, 2nd in RBIs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mickey Mantle's batting splurge is the big news in the American League as the New York Yankees' slugger takes dead aim at an unprecedented second straight "triple crown."

Since the start of the stormy White Sox series in Chicago two weeks ago, the switcher has been manhandling pitching at a .500 clip.

He now leads the majors with a .392 batting average, tops both leagues with 21 home runs and trails Washington's Roy Sievers by only one run with his 51 runs batted in.

Mickey picked up 13 points Sunday with six hits in the doubleheader with Chicago.

Just when Dick Donovan appeared ready to become the first pitcher to shut out the Yankees this season — with a three-hitter going to the ninth inning of the second game, his defense failed him and Mantle hit one. Mickey's 21st homer into the third deck in right with two on unhinged Donovan and brought Paul LaPalme to the rescue. The left-handed knuckleball pitcher put down the Yanks, and the Sox won 4-3. The victory left Chicago half a game behind New York.

The Yanks won their 10th straight 9-2 in the opener, a ninth victory for Bobby Shantz and his eighth in succession. The little lefthander was helped by a 16-hit attack against loser Billy Pierce, Gerry Staley and LaPalme.

Cleveland clubbed Washington pitching for a total of 31 hits, 14 in the first game, to win a pair 14-2 and 7-5 for Early Wynn and Mike Garcia. Gene Woodling had four hits and a walk in the opener and even pitcher Ray Narleski got his first hit of the year — a homer—in the second.

Frank Malzone and Ted Williams put on a hitting show at Boston, where the Red Sox also totaled 31 hits in thumping Kansas City 10-6 and 10-1. Malzone collected five hits and Williams hit his 18th and 19th homers.

Baltimore shaded Detroit 5-4 on Jim Busby's tie-breaking homer Ray Moore had three of the Orioles' 13 hits while going the route with a six-hitter.

St. Louis clung to a one-game lead in the ever-changing National League race. The Phillies, second Saturday night, dropped to fourth by losing a pair to Milwaukee, which took over second place.

Wally Moon drove in two runs with a triple and stole home in the Cardinals' 4-3 decision over Brooklyn. Larry Jackson won his ninth with help from Hoyt Wilhelm in the ninth.

Milwaukee downed the Phils 7-6 and 7-3 for Bob Buhl and Taylor Phillips but lost the services of Joe Adcock, who will be out for six or eight weeks due to a broken ankle. Hank Aaron's single won the first game in the ninth and Bill Bruton drove in three runs with a triple and double in the second.

Cincinnati's power, sputtering in recent weeks, came through with two homers in one game and three in the other of 5-3 and 5-2 victories over Pittsburgh. George Crowe hit a homer in each game among his six hits.

The New York Giants, who have taken a new lease on life on their western tour, won their fourth straight series. They knocked off Chicago 7-5 and 5-1 by beating the Cubs' two hot shot youngsters, 20-year-old Dick Drott and 21-year-old Moe Drabowsky. Johnny Antonelli won the first game but needed help. Curt Barclay struck out eight Cubs and missed a shutout in the second on Lee Walls' homer.

It was a rough Sunday on managers, especially in the National League. Bobby Bragan of Pittsburgh was chased for questioning a decision and so was Mayo Smith of the Phils. Freddie Hutchinson wasn't allowed to stay around long enough to see his league-leading Cardinals salt away their victory over Brooklyn. He got the heave-ho for disputing a pitch to Gino Cimoli.

Kernels Beat Cowboys, 7-2

The Kernels defeated the Cowboys Saturday night at Wilson Field by a score of 7-2 in the only youth loop game played in the county over the weekend.

The Kernels' victory over the Cowboys enabled them to go into a second place tie with the Cubs ½ game out of first place.

Joe Burnett turned in a pitching masterpiece for the Kernels. John Byrom started for the Cowboys but was not able to survive a wild first inning and Mike Molloy relieved him in the second.

The Cowboys' record now stands at 2 wins, 4 losses while the Kernels' record is 4 wins, 2 losses.

Monday night the Cubs clash with the Flashes at Wilson Field in a battle for second place.

Youth League Chatter

On the Sidelines

By DAVID KORN

At last the home run drought has ended in the Babe Ruth League. Last week in Good Hope, as his teammates were shellacking the Good Hope nine 20-3, Ron Carter, Girton catcher, slammed a low pitch high onto the roof of the high school gymnasium in left field. The ball smacked the roof in flight and then rolled down the other side of the building for the first home run of the Babe Ruth season.

Carter has been plagued by a hitting slump this year and has been trying different batting stances in an effort to overcome his weaknesses. Last year the big catcher hit a lusty .337.

MIKE VRETTOS, 11-year-old Rocket outfielder, is hitting .700 in the Minor Loop with seven hits in 10 trips to the dish. Included in his hits are several triples, on one of which he was thrown out at the plate in trying to stretch it into a homer.

BRAYS, the current Babe Ruth powerhouse, has won five straight ball games and is pulling ahead of the pack in the Ruth loop. The five straight triumphs mark the longest winning streak of any team in the Fayette County Youth League.

The Cubs now own the longest winning streak in the Little League with four straight victories. The Jets had previously owned the longest streak with four, but the Cubs downed them and kept alive their own win streak.

Responsible for the Bray streak, as far as pitching goes, have been Billy Southworth and Terry Stillings. Southworth, starting pitcher in the All-Star tilt, has won three of the five games while Stillings has won the remaining two.

Most improved hitter in the circuit at this time is Donnie Tracey of the Medics. Donnie is hitting at a fast clip and has been ably defensive behind the bat.

DAVE RENO of the Medics tried his hand at first base in the Medic-Bloomingburg game. Although Reno was credited with one error, he handled himself very well around the initial sack, and, going with the idea that first baseman must hit, he garnered two safeties.

Reno, most generally the club's shortstop or second baseman, is the fourth first baseman to have been used this year by the Medics in the absence of the injured Billy Crooks, regular at that position.

Bill Smith, Bloomingburg pitcher, set some sort of record in the Medics-Bloomingburg game. Smith was credited with five assists as he pounced on the balls hit near him.

MOTHERS of the Little League players say that their athletes never had taken care of clothes until they got their baseball uniforms from the various teams. One mother said that as soon as her son got his uniform, not only did she have trouble getting him to take it off, at bed time but that he actually hung it up on a hanger, something that he did previously not make a habit of doing.

JOE BURNETT, Kernels, was able to get even with himself when he beat the Record-Herald Flashes with a two-out single in the last inning June 17. Burnett previously had been the victim of a two-out game-winning hit on June 8. Joe was the pitcher and the Kernels were leading the Jets 6-4 going into the last of the sixth. With two on and two out, the batter hit a fly ball over the head of Kernel right-fielder Mel Wickensimer to send the Kernels and Burnett down to defeat.

SURPRISE TEAM of the Little League has been the Sunshine Cubs who have battled themselves from the cellar into the thick of the L. L. pennant scarp. On the strength of a four-game win streak, Mac Dews' boys have played excellent ball and have coasted into second place. The Cubs have suddenly rounded into a good, sound ball team with the clutch hits falling into place and the good pitching coming at the right time.

BOB HUFF, Girton third baseman, has developed into one of the hardest hitters in the Babe Ruth loop. The pitchers who got "beltin' Bob" out last year are finding it more difficult this year. Huff has six hits to his credit and all six of them are doubles.

Reds Find Batting Eye, Win Two

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Red Leg home run machine is working again and the Rhinelanders are winning games like they couldn't lose.

Two four-base blasts in the first game and three in the second powered the Reds to their second and third straight victories over Pittsburgh, 5-3 and 5-2, in Sunday's doubleheader.

First-sacker George Crowe led the way. His four-for-four performance in the opener included a three-run homer and a run-making single.

The bespectacled infielder got only two hits in the nightcap, but one of them was another homer he belted into the centerfield bleachers.

His first homer in the first inning of the opener and another by Frankie Robinson gave the Reds a quick 4-0 advantage

The Reds were in a third inning tie, 1-1, before turning on the power again in the second game.

Don Hoak broke the tie and accounted for two runs with his homer. Then came Crowe's four-base hit and Smoky Burgess closed out the scoring in the big inning with a smash to the right-field bleachers.

There were short tempers on both sides. Pirates Bob Purkey and Dee Fondy had to leave the second game for umpire-heckling, and Manager Bobby Bragan was thrown out of the opener after disputing a second-base ball.

The Redlegs have a day off today. The New York Giants arrive here Tuesday night for the first of a three-game series.

Tribe Hopes For Revenge At Stadium

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cleveland Indians will be gunning for a measure of revenge when they open a three-game series with the New York Yankees Tuesday.

Still fresh in the Tribe's memory is their encounter with the Bronx Bombers. The Yanks, who were supposedly in a slump, exploded for 48 hits and scored 34 runs as they swept three games from the completely subdued Indians.

Since the Yankees' revival in Cleveland they have been burning up the league. Winners in 10 of their last 11 games, the Yanks have replaced the Chicago White Sox as the American League leaders.

The Indians are expecting tougher competition from New York than they got from the cellar-dwelling Washington Senators Sunday.

Rapping six Washington pitchers for 31 hits, the Tribe took both ends of the Sunday doubleheader.

Early Wynn coasted to his ninth victory in the first game as the Tribe collected 19 hits, a season's record for one game, and scored a 14-2 victory.

Gene Woodling led the blistering Indians' attack. He slammed an inside-the-park home run, two doubles and a single in four trips to the plate. He added a triple and a single in the second game.

The Tribe won the second game 7-5 on the strength of Ray Narleski's three-run homer in the eighth. It was his first homer in the major leagues.

Narleski was pitching in relief of starter Mike Garcia, who was credited with his fourth victory.

Don Mossi will pitch Tuesday's opening game against the Yankees followed by Bob Lemon and Wynn.

Adcock Suffers Broken Leg

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves' slugging first baseman, Joe Adcock, dogged by injuries the past few seasons, broke his right leg Sunday and will be lost to the club for six to eight weeks.

He was injured sliding into second base in the second inning of the nightcap of the double-header with the Philadelphia Phillies. The Braves, with Adcock driving in two runs in the first game, swept the twin bill 7-6 and 7-3.

48 Matches in First Round

Handicap Golf Tourney Starts at Country Club

The annual handicap golf tournament is now under way at the Country Club here, with 96 players paired for the 48 matches of the first round.

The tournament will be played in three flights again this year, as has been the custom for many years. In the championship flight are the 32 golfers with the best handicap ratings; the 16 matches in the first flight will bring together the golfers of medium, or average, ability and the second flight matches the 32 golfers whose handicaps are in the upper levels.

Austin Wise is the defending champion of the top flight contingent. Dick Filbin is the defending champion of the first flight and Howard Brown is the second flight defending titlist.

The first round of matches are to be played by June 30, and will reduce the field in each flight by half through the process of elimination.

The golfers make their own arrangements for the time to play. Matches not played by the deadline for each round will be forfeited.

Under rules of play, the ball may be teed up in the fairways and then only with the club head.

Pairings for the first round and the handicaps for each golfer are:

WCH Athletics Lose To Lancaster Sunday

The Athletics started the second round of the Heart of Ohio League schedule here Sunday afternoon by losing 6 to 1 to Lancaster. This game was the last on the schedule and was moved up by mutual agreement.

Six hits were all the Athletics could collect off the pitching of Jim Waugh. Waugh had a shut-out going until the bottom of the ninth when the Athletics crossed the plate with their only run of the game.

Bucky Dumford started for the Athletics and was engaged in a tight pitching duel with Waugh until the sixth inning when Lancaster pushed across three tallies on four hits and an Athletic error. Jim Matson relieved Dumford and Lancaster jumped on him for two more scores in the eighth. Al Wackman pitched the ninth, emerging unscathed by Lancaster bats.

Lancaster first baseman Bill Wollard led the 8 - hit winner attack with 3 for 5. Pitcher Waugh smashed two doubles.

Bob Hildreth and Charlie Dawes each had 2 for 4 for the Athletics.

The loss was the Athletics' third as against five triumphs, while Lancaster's record now stands at four wins and four defeats.

The second game of the Second round of the Heart of Ohio League action will get into full swing for the Athletics next Sunday, June 30, when they play Columbus at the park here on Oakland Avenue.

Spark Sets Off Blaze In Cruiser

CIRCLEVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A State Highway Patrol car exploded into flame while it was traveling at 30 M.P.H. Sunday but its driver, Patrolman C. E. Miller, escaped with nothing more serious than a headache.

Miller said he was driving along U. S. 23 about one mile north of here when the explosion occurred. He said he was listening to a message on his police radio, and pressed a button to dispatch a message to the Columbus patrol post.

The trunk exploded and the rest of the car burst into flames, Miller said. The patrolman said he stopped at the side of the road and jumped out.

Patrol Sgt. L. G. Letzelter said an investigation showed that the gas apparently had built up in the trunk where radio equipment was stored. A spark from the radio button probably set off the explosion, he said.

Player Is Loser From Any Angle

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP) — Delbert Knotts of Cincinnati figures he really struck out at the ball game.

Knotts' station wagon was stolen during the softball contest.

In it, was Knott's wallet — containing $400. Only $112 of the money was his—the rest belonged to his boss, operator of an oil firm here.

Knott didn't learn about the theft until the game was over and he was about to get out of his playing clothes. But he had left his suit in the car.

That wasn't all — his team lost.

Weather Patrol One of Most Vital And Hazardous of Air Force's Jobs

By LEONARD J. SNYDER
Central Press Association Correspondent

WASHINGTON — One of the most vital and hazardous jobs in today's U. S. Air Force—50 years old this year—is the "weather patrol."

Weather reconnaissance squadrons of the Air Force "Air Weather Service" log about 35,000 miles each day, more than 12 million miles each year, collecting and transmitting weather data from areas where it is impractical or impossible to maintain ground observation posts.

The flying weather stations operate in key areas of the world, providing vital information necessary for the protection of this nation in both war and peace.

The urgency of accurate and sweeping weather data is readily evident when you consider its importance in hydrogen bomb tests.

The men responsible for triggering a nuclear test weapon cannot leave to chance the possible effects of radioactive atomic "fallout." A bomb tested in a remote Pacific ocean area thousands of miles from civilization can well menace densely-populated world areas if its "fallout" is carried in the wrong direction by nature's winds and clouds.

* * *

WEATHER SPECIALISTS provide the link which determines whether atmospheric conditions are "right" for detonating an H-bomb. But weather itself can be more destructive than the most modern nuclear weapon. In fact, H-bombs release less energy than even a small hurricane.

Because this is so, the only recourse man has against nature's deadly forces is to be forewarned in time against them so he can take shelter until the danger passes.

To fill the need for vital weather information, Air Force aerial reconnaissance units fly predetermined weather "tracks" from Guam, Japan, Bermuda, Hawaii, Alaska, California and England, which cover most of the earth's oceans.

Today's flying weather laboratories are Boeing B-50 Superfortresses which carry an ingenious device called a dropsonde. When dropped from the mother plane, the weather-sensing gadget sends out coded signals to the aircraft denoting pressure, temperatures and humidity at various altitudes.

This information is relayed by the plane's radio operator to the plane's home base which, in turn, transmits the data on a special weather teletype network every three hours around the clock.

There are weather hazards peculiar to each of the seven Air Weather Service reconnaissance squadrons stationed around the world. Right now, in Bermuda, for instance, the 1957 hurricane season is underway. It began June 1. Bermuda is the base of operations for the "Hurricane Fighters" of the Air Force, who are scanning the Caribbean breeding grounds for hurricanes.

* * *

THE KEY MAN in the Air Force hurricane-warning network is the hurricane liaison officer who must follow through from the first report of a suspected hurricane to the issuance of the actual hurricane warning.

This officer, stationed in Miami, receives reports obtained by the flying weathermen which give him temperature, pressure and humidity from winds, clouds structures and other technical information within and outside the storm's eye.

It is this officer who triggers a warning service to Air Force and Army installations. He operates out of the Joint Hurricane Warning Center in Miami, which is manned by U. S. Weather bureau and Navy weather units as well.

Together, Air Force and Navy weathermen fly daily over the million and a half square miles of ocean adjacent to the U. S. east coast. When the hurricane comes, the American weather agencies, working together through the Miami center, will spread the word to take cover and wait for the big blow to pass.

This "hurricane alert" is essentially the same kind of "search and warn" operation which takes place by Air Force weathermen in other parts of the world, where man must constantly be prepared to take a variety of blows hurled by Mother Nature.

Top Diamond Stars Speak For Baseball

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baseball celebrities go before Congress today to speak for their fellow players and it won't cost a penny to see them perform.

With Robin Roberts, Eddie Yost and Jerry Coleman as attractions, the House antitrust subcommittee prepared for a capacity crowd to open its second week of hearings on the legal status of professional sports enterprises.

Roberts, the Philadelphia Phillies' great right hander, pitches from the witness chair as National League player representative.

Yost, the Washington Senators' veteran third baseman, bats in the same capacity for the American League.

Infielder Coleman takes his turn as representative of the world champion New York Yankees. J. Norman Lewis of New York, attorney for the Major League Baseball Players Assn., arranged to appear with them.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Celler (D-NY) wants to sound out the players in its study of whether baseball and other professional team sports should be regulated by federal antitrust laws. The Supreme Court has exempted baseball but held that football is subject to antitrust jurisdiction.

Celler's group has a number of stars on the fitness lineup for this week. Bob Feller, the ex-Cleveland Indian strikeout king, and Stan Musial, famous St. Louis Cardinal infielder-outfielder, are due to testify Tuesday. Former big leaguer Bill Werber also is scheduled to appear then.

Ex-Solon's Widow Dies

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m. Tuesday for Mrs. Josephine L. Seiberling, 83, widow of former Republican Congressman Francis Seiberling who served in the old 19th district from 1928-1932.

Japan reduced its birthrate 43 percent in eight years—between 1947 and 1955.

Spark Sets Off Blaze In Cruiser

CIRCLEVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A State Highway Patrol car exploded into flame while it was traveling at 30 M.P.H. Sunday but its driver, Patrolman C. E. Miller, escaped with nothing more serious than a headache.

Miller said he was driving along U. S. 23 about one mile north of here when the explosion occurred. He said he was listening to a message on his police radio, and pressed a button to dispatch a message to the Columbus patrol post.

The trunk exploded and the rest of the car burst into flames, Miller said. The patrolman said he stopped at the side of the road and jumped out.

Patrol Sgt. L. G. Letzelter said an investigation showed that the gas apparently had built up in the trunk where radio equipment was stored. A spark from the radio button probably set off the explosion, he said.

Player Is Loser From Any Angle

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP) — Delbert Knotts of Cincinnati figures he really struck out at the ball game.

Knotts' station wagon was stolen during the softball contest.

In it, was Knott's wallet — containing $400. Only $112 of the money was his—the rest belonged to his boss, operator of an oil firm here.

Knott didn't learn about the theft until the game was over and he was about to get out of his playing clothes. But he had left his suit in the car.

That wasn't all — his team lost.

Weather Patrol One of Most Vital And Hazardous of Air Force's Jobs

By LEONARD J. SNYDER
Central Press Association Correspondent

WASHINGTON — One of the most vital and hazardous jobs in today's U. S. Air Force—50 years old this year—is the "weather patrol."

Weather reconnaissance squadrons of the Air Force "Air Weather Service" log about 35,000 miles each day, more than 12 million miles each year, collecting and transmitting weather data from areas where it is impractical or impossible to maintain ground observation posts.

The flying weather stations operate in key areas of the world, providing vital information necessary for the protection of this nation in both war and peace.

The urgency of accurate and sweeping weather data is readily evident when you consider its importance in hydrogen bomb tests.

The men responsible for triggering a nuclear test weapon cannot leave to chance the possible effects of radioactive atomic "fallout." A bomb tested in a remote Pacific ocean area thousands of miles from civilization can well menace densely-populated world areas if its "fallout" is carried in the wrong direction by nature's winds and clouds.

* * *

WEATHER SPECIALISTS provide the link which determines whether atmospheric conditions are "right" for detonating an H-bomb. But weather itself can be more destructive than the most modern nuclear weapon. In fact, H-bombs release less energy than even a small hurricane.

Because this is so, the only recourse man has against nature's deadly forces is to be forewarned in time against them so he can take shelter until the danger passes.

To fill the need for vital weather information, Air Force aerial reconnaissance units fly predetermined weather "tracks" from Guam, Japan, Bermuda, Hawaii, Alaska, California and England, which cover most of the earth's oceans.

Today's flying weather laboratories are Boeing B-50 Superfortresses which carry an ingenious device called a dropsonde. When dropped from the mother plane, the weather-sensing gadget sends out coded signals to the aircraft denoting pressure, temperatures and humidity at various altitudes.

This information is relayed by the plane's radio operator to the plane's home base which, in turn, transmits the data on a special weather teletype network every three hours around the clock.

There are weather hazards peculiar to each of the seven Air Weather Service reconnaissance squadrons stationed around the world. Right now, in Bermuda, for instance, the 1957 hurricane season is underway. It began June 1. Bermuda is the base of operations for the "Hurricane Fighters" of the Air Force, who are scanning the Caribbean breeding grounds for hurricanes.

* * *

THE KEY MAN in the Air Force hurricane-warning network is the hurricane liaison officer who must follow through from the first report of a suspected hurricane to the issuance of the actual hurricane warning.

This officer, stationed in Miami, receives reports obtained by the flying weathermen which give him temperature, pressure and humidity from winds, clouds structures and other technical information within and outside the storm's eye.

It is this officer who triggers a warning service to Air Force and Army installations. He operates out of the Joint Hurricane Warning Center in Miami, which is manned by U. S. Weather bureau and Navy weather units as well.

Together, Air Force and Navy weathermen fly daily over the million and a half square miles of ocean adjacent to the U. S. east coast. When the hurricane comes, the American weather agencies, working together through the Miami center, will spread the word to take cover and wait for the big blow to pass.

This "hurricane alert" is essentially the same kind of "search and warn" operation which takes place by Air Force weathermen in other parts of the world, where man must constantly be prepared to take a variety of blows hurled by Mother Nature.

Top Diamond Stars Speak For Baseball

WASHINGTON (AP)— Baseball celebrities go before Congress today to speak for their fellow players and it won't cost a penny to see them perform.

With Robin Roberts, Eddie Yost and Jerry Coleman as attractions, the House antitrust subcommittee prepared for a capacity crowd to open its second week of hearings on the legal status of professional sports enterprises.

Roberts, the Philadelphia Phillies' great right hander, pitches from the witness chair as National League player representative.

Yost, the Washington Senators' veteran third baseman, bats in the same capacity for the American League.

Infielder Coleman takes his turn as representative of the world champion New York Yankees. J. Norman Lewis of New York, attorney for the Major League Baseball Players Assn., arranged to appear with them.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Celler (D-NY) wants to sound out the players in its study of whether baseball and other professional team sports should be regulated by federal antitrust laws. The Supreme Court has exempted baseball but held that football is subject to antitrust jurisdiction.

Celler's group has a number of stars on the fitness lineup for this week. Bob Feller, the ex-Cleveland Indian strikeout king, and Stan Musial, famous St. Louis Cardinal infielder-outfielder, are due to testify Tuesday. Former big leaguer Bill Werber also is scheduled to appear then.

Ex-Solon's Widow Dies

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m. Tuesday for Mrs. Josephine L. Seiberling, 83, widow of former Republican Congressman Francis Seiberling who served in the old 19th district from 1928-1932.

Japan reduced its birthrate 43 percent in eight years—between 1947 and 1955.

Melon Aroma Key to Flavor

DAVIS, Calif. (AP) — A vegetable crop expert today passed out some helpful advice on that vexing marketing problem — how to pick out a good ripe melon.

Aroma is the key to it, advises Harlan K. Pratt, associate professor of vegetable crops at the University of California College of Agriculture. It ought to smell luscious at the blossom end, and that end opposite the stem end should be springy to soft.

"The melon flavor we pay for is the aroma," says he. "If you can't smell it coming out of the melon, it isn't there."

Wife and I Buicked down to Atlanta last Thursday evening to a chicken & ham dinner put on by the WSCS of that community. Took Mrs. Anna McFadden and Mrs. Blanche Boyer & a couple of grand kids Pat McCoy & Toni Ward along I'm a good eater but I was a poor second to those ladies. Ha!

Putting up hay is the order of the day and the weather has been excellent, never saw corn grow faster .Dad used to say on a hot night you could hear the corn crackling it grew so fast. It's sure been crackling the past few days.

Been paying off for all the A's the grand kids received on their report cards. One nickel each A. Cost me all the way from twenty cents to over two dollars each.

Clark Pensyl and family are on their vacation. We intend to make a great effort to sell a lot of cars while Clark and son John are gone so they will feel real good when they return. So trading will be in high gear the balance of this month out on Clinton Ave., at Brandenburg. We just dare you to come out and see and drive a new Chev. or Buick or one of our fine O. K. used cars.

21 Lose Lives In Summer's First Weekend

16 Die on Highways, Drownings Claim 5 Victims in Ohio

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The first weekend of summer, 1957, was the last weekend of life for 16 Ohioans who went riding and met death.

Besides these 16 who were killed in highway tragedies, the Associated Press count from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Sunday showed that at least five, and possibly seven persons died in accidental drownings.

The worst accident took place in Sandusky County, four miles west of the Erie County line, where three persons died in the collision of two cars on U.S. 6.

The waters of Raccoon Creek, near Gallipolis, are being dragged for the body of Anderson Miller, 43, of Huntington, W. Va., whose fishing boat was found adrift in the Ohio River.

* * *

THE CLERMONT County coroner had ordered an autopsy in the death of George Thompson, 42, of Cincinnati, who apparently drowned Saturday when he fell into the Little Miami River near Batavia. Dr. A. A. Gruber said he found a mark on Thompson's head and wants the medical probe before he rules on the cause of death

The fatalities included:

Saturday:

Phillip Neubauer, 22, Cincinnati, when the auto in which he was riding went out of control and hit a road sign, a utility pole and a mail box in Cincinnati

Tracy Sumey, 15, Eastlake, drowned in Chagrin River while playing with two other boys.

Linda Felice, 3, when a car struck and killed her as she crossed in front of her home in Parma.

Mrs. Constance Beam, 20, Akron, when the car in which she was riding overturned on Ohio 18 east of Rootstown.

Steel Price To Go Higher

$5 to $6 Per Ton Boost Predicted

CLEVELAND (AP)—"Steel" Magazine said today steel prices are likely to go up July 1 when steelworkers get a wage increase, and "best bet is that the steel price rise will average $5 to $6 a ton."

The weekly journal of metalworking estimated that gains under the three-year contract the steelworkers signed last year would add 17.1 cents a man hour to steel production costs next week.

An hourly wage boost of seven cents, a cost-of-living increase of four cents, and a 2.3-cent expenditures for Sunday premium rates are the larger items in the 17.1 package estimate, which "Steel" said means "steel production costs would go up $10.26 a ton."

"The July 1 wage boost cost is a little less than last year's," "Steel" said, and "demand for steel is lighter. So consumers, especially those in a profit squeeze, think prices shouldn't rise much. First quarter steel earnings are higher than in the same period, 1956."

For these reasons, the journal predicted, the coming increase in base prices is expected to be under the $8.50-a-ton boost of last summer.

Last week the steel industry's operating rate slipped a half point to 88 per cent of capacity.

By the end of the first half-year, "Steel" said, the nation's mills will have produced 60,785,000 net tons, representing an average of about 91 per cent of capacity.

The rate for the second half of year probably will be lower, "Steel" said, because operations are swinging into the vacation season which cuts both production and consumption because of some plant-wide shutdowns.

WHS Band Practice To Start Wednesday

Weekly practices for its appearance at the Fair here the last week of July will start at 7 p. m. Wednesday for the Washington C. H. High School varsity band, Bandmaster Robert Neumann announced Monday morning.

From now until Fair week, the band will meet each Wednesday evening in the band room in the high school, Neumann said.

The band that will play Wednesday ,Thursday and Friday between races of the afternoon harness horse racing program will include all of last season's band members, with the exception of the seniors who were graduated last May.

To fill the places vacated by the graduated seniors will be the eighth graders in last season's Junior Band. They will be making their major first public appearance with the band at the Fair.

The majorettes will exchange their batons for instruments when the band plays at the Fair, just as they did for the spring concert.

The heavy blue uniforms will be left in mothballs when the band appears in white at the Fair. The regular uniforms "are just too hot for summer," Neumann explained. This custom has been followed for several years.

The Jeffersonville High School band will play at the Fair Saturday afternoon.

Bypassed Senators Plan Civil Rights Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Judiciary Committee members face up today to the question of what to do about civil rights legislation now that the Senate has voted to keep a House-passed bill out of their hands.

Sen. Eastland (D-Miss), committee chairman and an outspoken foe of civil rights measures, said in advance he would have no prediction on what might happen at the closed-door meeting.

The bill passed by the House last week was put on the Senate calendar through an unusual parliamentary maneuver. Some supporters of civil rights legislation are none too happy about the shortcut. They have indicated they still would like the Senate committee to report out a bill of its own.

The civil rights legislation has been stalled in the committee by Southern opponents since March 19, when a subcommittee approved 4-2 a measure that closely parallels the House bill.

* * *

IN GENERAL, the civil rights legislation backed by the Eisenhower administration is designed to protect voting and other rights. The chief new weapon would be power for the attorney general to seek federal court injunctions against violations or threatened violations of such rights.

Because of the inaction of the Senate committee, Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California invoked a seldom-used Senate rule to place the House measure directly on the Senate calendar and thus bypass the Judiciary Committee.

The Senate upheld this procedure 45-39 last Thursday despite the protests of Sen. Russell (D-Ga), leader of the Dixie forces, and others who contended it would undermine the Senate's committee system of considering legislation.

* * *

WHILE any senator now can move at any time to call the House bill up for debate, an agreement has been reached among the leaders not to try to do so before July 8.

Sen. Ellender (D-La) served notice over the weekend that any motion to take up the measure "will bring forth prolonged debate to be blunt, a filibuster."

This has been taken for granted by supporters of the bill, and the key question is whether they can muster the 64 votes required to choke off a filibuster.

Fayette Girl Wins Scholarship In Shorthorn Judging Contest

Joann Bonham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Bonham, Route 6, Washington C. H., received a $250 scholarship and plaque as the top scoring individual at the Ohio Shorthorn and Polled Shorthorn Field Day and picnic held Sunday at Acadia Farms near Northfield, Ohio.

She scored 276 points out of a possible 300 in judging three classes of shorthorn females.

She received a scholarship to the School of Home Economics at Ohio State University.

A team of three individuals from the Wayne Progressive Farmers 4-H Club ranked third with 719 points out of a possible 900. First place team scored 747 points. The team consisted of Jerry Hoppes. Barbara Sue Kneisley and Miss Bonham. They competed against 50 other judging teams from all over the state.

ON DISPLAY for the Field Day was P. S. Troubador, the 1956 International grand champion steer. He was making a return visit to the place where he was born.

Miss Bonham, a 1957 graduate of Good Hope High School, recently returned from a week at the State Junior Leadership Camp Ohio at which she represented Fayette County 4-H'ers. She participated as a member of the Fayette County livestock judging team at the Ohio State Fair last year.

Last week the steel industry's operating rate slipped a half point to 88 per cent of capacity.

By the end of the first half-year, "Steel" said, the nation's mills will have produced 60,785,000 net tons, representing an average of about 91 per cent of capacity.

The rate for the second half of year probably will be lower, "Steel" said, because operations are swinging into the vacation season which cuts both production and consumption because of some plant-wide shutdowns.

WHS Band Practice To Start Wednesday

Weekly practices for its appearance at the Fair here the last week of July will start at 7 p. m. Wednesday for the Washington C. H. High School varsity band, Bandmaster Robert Neumann announced Monday morning.

From now until Fair week, the band will meet each Wednesday evening in the band room in the high school, Neumann said.

The band that will play Wednesday ,Thursday and Friday between races of the afternoon harness horse racing program will include all of last season's band members, with the exception of the seniors who were graduated last May.

To fill the places vacated by the graduated seniors will be the eighth graders in last season's Junior Band. They will be making their major first public appearance with the band at the Fair.

The majorettes will exchange their batons for instruments when the band plays at the Fair, just as they did for the spring concert.

The heavy blue uniforms will be left in mothballs when the band appears in white at the Fair. The regular uniforms "are just too hot for summer," Neumann explained. This custom has been followed for several years.

The Jeffersonville High School band will play at the Fair Saturday afternoon.

Bypassed Senators Plan Civil Rights Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Judiciary Committee members face up today to the question of what to do about civil rights legislation now that the Senate has voted to keep a House-passed bill out of their hands.

Sen. Eastland (D-Miss), committee chairman and an outspoken foe of civil rights measures, said in advance he would have no prediction on what might happen at the closed-door meeting.

The bill passed by the House last week was put on the Senate calendar through an unusual parliamentary maneuver. Some supporters of civil rights legislation are none too happy about the shortcut. They have indicated they still would like the Senate committee to report out a bill of its own.

The civil rights legislation has been stalled in the committee by Southern opponents since March 19, when a subcommittee approved 4-2 a measure that closely parallels the House bill.

IN GENERAL, the civil rights legislation backed by the Eisenhower administration is designed to protect voting and other rights. The chief new weapon would be power for the attorney general to seek federal court injunctions against violations or threatened violations of such rights.

Because of the inaction of the Senate committee, Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California invoked a seldom-used Senate rule to place the House measure directly on the Senate calendar and thus bypass the Judiciary Committee.

The Senate upheld this procedure 45-39 last Thursday despite the protests of Sen. Russell (D-Ga), leader of the Dixie forces, and others who contended it would undermine the Senate's committee system of considering legislation.

WHILE any senator now can move at any time to call the House bill up for debate, an agreement has been reached among the leaders not to try to do so before July 8.

Sen. Ellender (D-La) served notice over the weekend that any motion to take up the measure "will bring forth prolonged debate to be blunt, a filibuster."

This has been taken for granted by supporters of the bill, and the key question is whether they can muster the 64 votes required to choke off a filibuster.

She scored 276 points out of a possible 300 in judging three classes of shorthorn females.

She received a scholarship to the School of Home Economics at Ohio State University.

A team of three individuals from the Wayne Progressive Farmers 4-H Club ranked third with 719 points out of a possible 900. First place team scored 747 points. The team consisted of Jerry Hoppes, Barbara Sue Kneisley and Miss Bonham. They competed against 50 other judging teams from all over the state.
